Scullery Worker Dies in Crash

Monticello, July 30 (AP)—A scullery boy was killed yesterday when he took a street corner here at 60 miles per hour in a stolen car. The car rolled over several times. The dead man was identified as Robert Weeks of New York. Police said he stole the car from the Empire Hotel in Ferndale, where he had been discharged Wednesday as a kitchen helper. Two teen-aged hitchhikers riding with Weeks were injured. They were Jerome Kase, 16, and Jerry Salkin, 17, both of Brooklyn.

Marlborough Man Fatally Injured

James E. Eckert, 45, Was Riding on Big Earth Mover

James Edward Eckert, 45, of Grand street, Marlborough, was instantly killed shortly after 5 p. m. Thursday when he was crushed under a large earth mover on the Thruway construction project in the town of Newburgh, where he was employed, state police of Newburgh reported.

Troopers said that Eckert "hitched" a ride on an Euclid Earth Mover operated by Arthur Stone, and was standing on the front of the vehicle near the driver. As it struck several bumps, Eckert fell off and the wheels of the earth mover passed over him, according to the state police.

Verdict Is Issued

Coroner Harvey Agnew of Orange county issued a verdict of accidental death.

Eckert was a member of the Christ Episcopal Church of Marlborough, the Marlborough Sportsmen's Club, and Local 445 of Chauffeurs and Teamsters Union. He was born in Marlborough Sept. 10, 1908, son of Edward James Eckert and the late Lillian Fairbanks Eckert.

Surviving are his wife, the former Margaret Van Amburg; his father; three sons, William, in the U. S. Marines in Korea, James and Harry Eckert, at home; three daughters, Barbara Ann, Patricia Joan and Lillian Hester, all at home; also three brothers, George, Charles and Raymond Eckert, and three sisters, Hester, Lillian and May. Funeral arrangements, in charge of Doulin-Ziglig Funeral Home, Newburgh, are incomplete.

Lightning Strikes Several Places; Causes Damage

Scattered Effects Occur on Power, Phone Lines; Firemen Are Called

Several lightning strikes were reported in Kingston Thursday night as an electrical storm accompanied by rain caused some scattered damage to electrical and telephone installations.

A direct hit by lightning took out a 13,000 volt line on Wilbur avenue which serves Ulster Park and vicinity, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. reported. Kingston Fire Department summoned at 6:30 p. m., when lightning struck a television antenna at the home of Vernon Hull at 187-Downs street. Firemen reported an odor of burning insulation, but no fire upon their arrival. The bolt apparently struck the TV aerial and an electric line, according to the report. Men and equipment from Wiltwyck station and the A. H. Wicks Engine Company responded.

Ulster Park in Darkness

Central Hudson reported the Ulster Park vicinity was in darkness for about an hour after the Wilbur avenue line was damaged. A line supplying the Saugerties road vicinity was taken down by a falling limb, and minor damage was reported scattered in the outlying districts.

The New York Telephone Company reported approximately 120 telephones out of service in the Kingston area, and repair crews worked until 2 a. m. to clear up the damage. Four cables were also damaged, and men were still repairing these this morning. Telephone service interruptions were confined mostly to Main and Green streets, Foxhall avenue and Elmendorf street.

At 7:15 p. m., a pickup truck operated by Ivan Chrisey of RFD Stone Ridge, skidded on the wet pavement of Route 209 two miles north of Stone Ridge and was in collision with an automobile driven by Stephen Stewart of Pittsburgh, Pa., state police reported. No personal injuries were listed and no arrest made.

About 25 minutes after the call for a lightning strike on Downs street, the fire department received a call to the home of William Fuller on Noone's Lane for what at first appeared to be a lightning strike but later (Continued on Page 7, Col. 8)

Congressional Foes Renew Demand for Coffee Rules

Washington, July 30 (AP)—Congressional critics of soaring coffee prices renewed their call for stricter regulations today in the wake of a government report blaming the price hikes on speculation and other artificial causes.

But coffee traders and producers promptly denied the high coffee price was their fault. The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) issued a report yesterday saying the boost in average retail coffee prices—from 91 cents to $1.18 a pound between December and April—"cannot be explained" in terms of the laws of supply and demand.

It said one reason was speculation by both U. S. and Brazilian interests, but that price hikes also stemmed from skimpy coffee crop reports and from Brazil's action in raising its minimum coffee export price from 53 to 87 cents a pound July 1.

And while the price spiral added less than a cent to the cost of a cup of coffee in Ameri-

Two Sides See Tax as Assistance

Democrats Take Final Chance to Strike at Some Provisions of Bill

Washington, July 30 (AP)—Congress completed action last night on the first complete overhaul of the nation's tax laws in 75 years, and both Republicans and Democrats claimed they would profit more politically.

Whatever the political effects may be in the coming campaign for control of Congress, the action sent to the White House for virtually certain approval the bill President Eisenhower had designated as the cornerstone of his 1954 program.

Before a 61-26 vote in the Senate sent the bill to the President, Democrats seized a final chance to snipe at some provisions.

Only three Republicans—Dworshak (Idaho), Langer (N.D.) and Williams (Del.)—joined 22 Democrats and Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.) in voting "no." Supporters included 42 Republicans and 19 Democrats.

The revision bill carries $1.363,000,000 in assorted tax cuts for individuals and corporations in its first year of operation, more in later years. It does not change major tax rates except to maintain the 52 per cent levy on corporation income which dropped to 47 per cent on April 1 and is extended retroactively.

Bill Is Hailed

Republicans hailed the bill as capping a 7½ billion-dollar 1954 tax reduction program—biggest for any single year. This already has been used in GOP campaign material.

Democrats interject here that two big boons to the taxpayer took effect automatically under a 1951 law enacted when their party controlled Congress.

These include two big reductions which took effect Jan. 1—three billion dollars through a 10 per cent personal income tax cut and two billions through expiration of the corporation excess profits tax.

On April 1 various excise tax cuts totalling a billion dollars took effect. These were fought by the Treasury but enthusiastically supported by Republican congressional leaders.

Will Be Helpful

Republicans also contend the big revision bill will be politically helpful to them because it contains benefits for such groups as retired persons, families with heavy medical expenses, mothers who must work to support their children, fathers with children in college who earn part of their way, and farmers with big soil conservation expenditures.

GOP leaders said the President down argue the bill will spur business by providing more funds for plant expansion and modernization through a wide variety of more liberal deductions for businesses. This will mean more jobs, they say.

Democrats, claiming they will benefit, say the bill concentrates benefits for big corporations and the wealthy, but does little or nothing for the average little man.

They tried in both House and Senate to put in a general tax cut, but were beaten back on close votes.

Anderson Heads Hospital Drive

Announcement that Bev. Anderson will serve as the General Chairman of the Development Fund project for the Kingston Hospital was made today by the Hospital's Board of Trustees.

It was reported by Frank Matthews, president of the board of trustees, that Anderson's acceptance of this key position in the forthcoming phase of the program to expand the facilities and services of the hospital "is a source of great satisfaction to all members of our Board. His sound business judgment and fine qualities of leadership will be a tremendous asset in directing the organization that will seek the $450,000 which, in addition to funds on hand, is needed for the Hospital's present enlargement."

Anderson said today that he will proceed immediately to enlist chairman and other volunteers to be active in the earlier stages of the project which is already under way. "I certainly did not seek this position," he commented, "but I am glad to accept it as a civic responsibility. I shall do everything within my power to make the undertaking a successful one and, with the cooperation of our citizens, it will be."

Statistics Quoted

The new general chairman noted that adequate hospital facilities are a matter of direct personal concern to everyone, inasmuch as national statistics show that one out of every eight residents of this area will require hospital care in any one

Churchill Is Given 10-1 Support Vote

London, July 30 (AP)—Parliament got ready to close shop for the summer recess today after according Prime Minister Churchill a 10-1 confidence vote on his plan to pull British troops from the Suez Canal Zone. Most Laborites abstained on the ballot.

The House of Commons backed the prime minister's historic decision by a vote of 257-26 after Churchill made an impassioned declaration that the H-bomb had rendered the billion dollar, 75-year-old stragg of bases obsolete.

Both Commons and the House of Lords, which also debated the controversial Suez issue, begin their summer recess today. They will not reconvene until October.

Plans Completed For House Tour At Stone Ridge

Five Dwellings Are Added to Those Seen on Previous Times —Date Aug. 7

Plans have been completed for the annual tour of old houses on Saturday, August 7, for the benefit of Stone Ridge Library Fair.

Five houses not previously opened to the public will offer many interesting features, both historically and architecturally. They will be open from 1 to 5 p. m.

Mrs. John Davenport, general chairman, pointed out today that antique lovers and home decorators would particularly enjoy the tour. Tickets will be sold on the library lawn or at the houses.

Homes Described

The first house to be visited will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Shufeldt on the Cottekill road just off Route 209. This is a frame house more than 100 years old—at one time a DuBois home, passing through marriage into hands of the Pine family. In 1932 it was completely renovated and is now a spacious beautiful home with highly attractive grounds.

The second house is that of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Beach—a stone house erected in pre-Revolutionary times by the Van Wagenen family. It is located on the Lucas Turnpike between Cottekill and High Falls. Four generations have made it the Beach Homestead to all who know it. It is furnished appropriately and displays many of the fine old features of its time.

The next home, that of Miss Harriet Church, is located in High Falls—a frame house dating earlier than 1800. It is filled with lovely old furniture in perfect keeping with the house. Standing quietly on the front porch one can hear the tumble of the village falls.

The tour will then journey to the Pearson home, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hansen, a stone house of unrecorded date. It is located on Lucas Turnpike. The house, originally a tavern, was built well before the Revolution. The old Coach road ran in front of the house and crossed the creek.

Dates to 1775

The fifth and last house is that of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Davenport on the Krippelbush road not far from Route 209. The house is believed to date back to 1775, probably much earlier. It came into the hands of the Gordon family in 1860. Mr. Davenport's mother was a Gordon and was reared there—so it hasn't passed out of the family. It is a white-washed stone house and can be identified by the Dutch blue blinds.

Hostesses Listed

The route of the tour will be carefully blazed. In each house will be hostesses to answer questions. They are: Mmes. Paul Sturges, Ted Whitmarsh, Hollister Sturges, William F. Hasbrouck, Ray Le Fevre, L. T. Hober, Hilda Holscher, Ernest Jensen, Arnold Jacobsen, Ashton Hart, Milton Sanderson and Henry Barmann and the Misses Barbara Davenport, Edythe Newkirk, Margaret Newkirk, Marguerite Quick and Helen Newkirk.

Mrs. Davenport is being assisted by Mrs. John Basten.

Atomic Arsenal Is Growing Fast

Convicted Second Time

Vincent Ciucci, 28-year-old grocer accused of slaying his wife and their three children for love of another woman, wipes his forehead in Chicago jail July 29 after he was convicted of the murder of his daughter, Angeline, four. Judge Richard Austin fixed his punishment on this conviction at 45 years in prison. In a previous trial, Ciucci was convicted for the slaying of his wife, Anne, 27, and sentenced to 20 years. Local Court Says Total of Neglect Incidents Has Decreased

The number of delinquency cases to come before the Ulster county Children's Court during the past year increased by 42, formal delinquency cases increasing by 29 and informal by 13. The total was increased from 217 in 1952 to 225 in 1953.

While delinquency cases increased the number of neglect cases decreased by 18 and there was also a decrease of 12 in the number of new physically handicapped cases and applications for certification of mentally defective children also decreased by 5. There was also only one application for certification of an epileptic child as compared to two the previous year.

In 1953 the number of applications for consent to marriage of girls under 16 years of age increased to four over the previous year when only one consent was sought.

Placed on Probation

In the delinquency cases most of the children adjudged to be delinquent were placed on probation to the chief probation officer but 12 were committed to a state institution.

In the neglect cases most of the children adjudged to be neglected are committed to the custody of the Ulster county (Continued on Page 7, Col. 7)

California Official Says Chessman Ruling Mockery

San Quentin, Calif., July 30 (AP)—Caryl Chessman, convicted sex terrorist turned best-selling author, relaxed in prison today after his fourth reprieve from execution in six years.

Two other condemned men California's law enforcement chief insisted deserved as much consideration as Chessman were scheduled to die in San Quentin's lethal gas chamber at 10 a. m. (12 noon EST).

Chessman—32 year old convict author of "Cell 2455, Death Row"—was granted a new stay of execution by state Supreme Court Justice Jesse Carter yesterday—less than 24 hours before his scheduled execution.

That reprieve prompted Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown to assert the administration of capital punishment in California is "a mockery of justice" and suggest abolition of the death penalty in this state.

"The way the law is being administered now," said Brown, "we are making a hero out of every man who is condemned to

Action Now Insures Our Leadership

Plant to Drive Nautilus Nears Completion, Is AEC Report—Four Planned

Washington, July 30 (AP)—The nation's atomic arsenal is "growing rapidly in total numbers," the government said today, and high-level action has been taken to assure continued U. S. superiority in the A-bomb and H-bomb field.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) so told Congress today in its semiannual report which also said there had been record production of uranium from domestic sources in the last six months and a "sharp rise" in the production of fissionable materials at lower unit costs.

AEC reported the start of operation of "a number of components" of its big plant at Savannah River, S. C., where materials for either A-bombs or H-bombs can be made.

And it reported continued progress toward development of reactors for industrial nuclear power, which it said may be produced economically in the foreseeable future, and "for naval and aircraft propulsion and other military requirements."

Plant for Submarine

The commission reported the near completion of the atomic power plant to drive the Nautilus, the navy's first nuclear powered submarine whose hull has been completed. A second atomic sub is under construction and plans for early building of two more were announced yesterday by the navy.

AEC said its rapidly growing stockpile of atomic weapons reflects "a trend of increased variety and versatility" which, it continued, has extended the military usefulness of the fissionable materials available. "Paralleling fissionable weapon development since 1950," the commission report said, "there has been in progress a concerted development effort on thermonuclear weapons (hydrogen bombs)."

"In view of important development programs, a national policy decision was made to take every advantage of such progress to assure that the United States maintains its superiority."

Tests Are Successful

AEC said last spring's tests in the Pacific, which stirred an international controversy, "were successful in development of thermonuclear weapons," and it said it has found no evidence of any permanent harm to persons in the area who suffered burns from radioactivity.

The commission said it has plans for the construction of a second and much more powerful "breeder" reactor for producing atomic fuel and, at the same time, turning out heat capable of use in power generation. One such experimental reactor is in operation.

'Furnace' Suspended

1. AEC said it has developed a remote control system for detecting rapidly radioactivity from continental atomic tests such as those conducted periodically in Nevada. The system automatically sends out radio broadcasts when triggered by radioactive particles, alerting control points miles away.

2. In the quest for a practical atomic engine for aircraft, an (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Insulation Fire Points to Strike

Discovery late this morning of the odor of burning insulation in the home of Andrew Edge, 32 Webster street, indicated another strike by lightning in the city last night.

Firemen were called at 10:56 a. m., and reported that wires leading to the meter box had apparently been hit and the box damaged. Men and equipment from Central station responded, and after the odor was traced to the meter box, the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., was notified, and cut the line pending repairs. At least two other places in the city and vicinity were reported struck by lightning.

A call at 11:52 a. m., was for a fire caused by a short circuit in the wiring of the car of Mabel Markle, 290 Manor avenue, near the post office. The battery was disconnected and damage confined to the wiring.

Volunteers Begin Convention Plans

All volunteer fire companies of the city were represented at a meeting called by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy in Central fire station last night to start organized action in preparation for the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Convention to be held here in June of next year.

A first duty of the volunteer is service in fire protection, the chief said, but their social and recreational life is also important, and since the 1955 convention is the first of the Hudson Valley association to be held in the city since 1928, the firemen have a big job ahead in preparing for it.

"It is the responsibility of all the firemen of the city to put it over," and the men of each company should do their part in making it a success, he stressed.

Nearly 100 Attend Meeting

Nearly 100 volunteers attended the meeting and among them were officers of various companies including Thomas Coughlin, president of the Veteran Volunteers Association, who backed the chief in urging all-out effort in behalf of a successful convention. Every company was represented by several members. Also among officers attending was James Locke, of Wiltyck, chairman of the convention committee, and Fire Commissioners Frank Burr, president, Charles Derrenbacher and Harold VanBramer.

Chief Murphy said he felt the volunteers "were deserving of the support of the local public which is favorable through their service by not having to pay more in taxes for maintenance of a larger paid department."

Several committees are to work in preparing for the convention and the scope of it was indicated when the chief reported that the 1928 convention attracted 100 companies.

Stolen Arborio Property Found By Deputy Sheriff

A vacationing deputy sheriff going out to hunt woodchuck in the Ruby area on Wednesday discovered a cache of equipment later identified as that stolen from the town of Poughkeepsie. The loot was found by Benjamin Newkirk, an Ulster county deputy sheriff, when he parked his automobile in a clearing along a back road. In the cache were more than 200 sparkplugs, a coil, coil brackets, two thermostats, four fan belts for heavy equipment and three rolls of copper flashing weighing over 100 pounds each, and seven windshield wiper blades.

Newkirk notified the sheriff's office and a check disclosed like items were stolen from John Arborio, Inc., in the town of Poughkeepsie during the weekend. Lt. Hugh Dakin of the town police force announced Thursday afternoon, after inspecting the items, that they were identified as those reported stolen from Arborio.

Total value of the items recovered was estimated at about $400.

Dittus Arrested As Drunk Driver

William Dittus, 31, of 104 South Manor avenue, was held for driving while intoxicated after his car had struck a tree and a house at East Chester street and Highland avenue early today.

Officers John Crespinio and Julius Glassman reported at 1:30 a. m., that the Dittus sedan headed west on East Chester street had struck and damaged a tree in front of 67 East Chester street and the front porch of the Lawrence Spangenberg house at 64 East Chester street.

The car, damaged on its front, was towed from the scene. The officers arrested Dittus on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The Dittus case was put over to Aug. 5 when he appeared before Special City Judge Harry Gold later today, and pleaded innocent.

Attorney William D. Brinnier appeared for the district attorney's office.

Five Speeding Arrests

Five speeders were arrested yesterday. One of them due to appear in court today forfeited $20 bail and another was fined $15. The others are due to appear before Judge Gold tomorrow. The arrests were by Officers John Crespinio, Julius Glassman, Gurnsey Burger, Jr., George Dougherty and Charles McCullough.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 30 (AP)—Trading in stocks and a handful of other issues at substantially higher prices today dominated the stock market into the early afternoon.

Youngtown Sheet & Tube shot ahead nearly 7 points and Bethlehem Steel was up around 3 on confirmation that the companies were talking about a merger.

Goodall-Sanford soared better than 6 points in a great flurry of trading. One source said the jump resulted from a squeeze of short sellers.

The market as a whole was higher with buying attention riveted on steels, aircrafts and special situations. Also ahead were the motors, rubbers, coppers, golds, railroads and utilities.

Most price changes either way were fractional, with some stocks pushed up between 1 and 2 points and the spectacular group soaring on upward from there.

Trading was quite active and hit a pace better than the 2-710,000 shares traded yesterday. Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall street, New York city; branch office 41 John street, R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

Dublin, Ireland, July 30—Four hundred men of the U. S. Navy gave a pint of blood each yesterday for use in Irish hospitals. The sailors are here with a naval squadron on a courtesy call. They lined up for the mass blood letting aboard the light cruiser Worcester.

During the Middle Ages, fur was used principally in male rather than in female garments.

Jury Decides Thorne Death Was Naturally Caused

Chicago, July 30 (AP)—A coroner's jury has decided wealthy young Montgomery Ward Thorne died of natural causes but that an element of mystery concerning his death remains unanswered.

The jurors recommended continued investigation of the case by "city, state or federal" authorities even though their verdict marked the official end of the case.

Thorne—20-year-old heir to a mail order fortune of nearly two million dollars—died June 19 in his $75-month one-room flat. Cause of the death could not be determined immediately.

The coroner's jury Thursday accepted a report from four eminent pathologists who exhumed the young heir's body that his death was caused by bronchial pneumonia.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron signed Thorne's death certificate, certifying the death as natural. But McCarron said he thought it would have been better if the jury had found that cause of death was not determined.

'Nothing but Confusion'

"There was so much conflicting testimony," McCarron said. "This case was nothing but confusion. I definitely believe that all government agencies should investigate the case."

Some figures in the investigation still questioned the cause of death. A legal battle between Thorne's sweetheart, Maureen Ragen, 18, and his mother, Mrs. Marion Thorne, over who will get his estate appears in the offing.

A will Thorne drew nine days before his death left half his estate to Miss Ragen and one-quarter to her mother, Aileen. A previous will left the entire estate to Mrs. Thorne.

Mrs. Aileen Ragen disputed the pathologists' findings. She said that she and her daughter went out with Thorne the night before his death, and he appeared in excellent health.

3. The Pacific tests of last spring deposited widely over the United States small amounts of radioactive debris, and minute quantities could be detected in some humans in this country, but the amounts were far less than required to produce detectable injury.

4. Medical observations do not indicate any permanent harm to 31 servicemen in the test task force who were exposed to radiation as a result of a sudden wind shift at the time of the March 1 blast. Of the 74 Marshall Islanders similarly exposed, AEC said, their burns now are almost completely healed.

Japanese Improve

Japanese fishermen on the "Lucky Dragon"—the AEC calls the fishing craft the "Fortunate Dragon"—are reported by Japanese physicians to be improving satisfactorily, the report said. The fishing craft was in the path of the radioactive "fall-out."

Taking note of Japanese protests that fish on the "Lucky Dragon" and in the waters of the area had been badly contaminated, the AEC said only a single fish has been made available for study, and it continued:

"Analysis of this specimen in an AEC laboratory showed the radioactivity of the edible portions to be well within acceptable limits for food and water for continuous use by humans... "Informed scientific opinion, borne out by recent continuous monitoring by the Federal Food and Drug Administration of tuna fish coming to the west coast from the Pacific proving

The automobile was badly damaged along its right side, troopers said. It was headed south and ran off the right side of the highway.

Hot Weekend Forecast

New York, July 30 (AP)—The Weather Bureau, which yesterday said it expected a break in the heat wave by Sunday, announced today that it looked for high temperatures throughout the weekend. However, Ernest J. Christie, principal meteorologist at the bureau, said some relief would result from lower humidity. "The humidity will be low enough not to be unpleasant," Christie said. He expected the humidity to be under 50 per cent for the weekend. Temperatures today, tomorrow and Sunday are expected to reach a peak close to 90, and it will be mostly fair.

Wonder Vitamin Will Be Tested At Maryland Jail

Baltimore, July 30 (AP)—The "wonder vitamin," B-12, is under suspicion.

Johns Hopkins' scientists suspect B-12 of failing to perform wonders for old folk. And they're going to give it the third degree at Maryland penitentiary.

For the last five years, thousands of elderly persons have been gulping B-12 at a furious rate, both under doctors' prescriptions and as the result of patent medicine advertising. Their hope . . . to find renewed vigor.

But the biochemical cops at Hopkins have had the wonder vitamin under surveillance.

Under direction of Dr. Bacon F. Chow, the biochemists tested B-12 on residents of a nursing home and a group of Hopkins students. They formed two theories:

1. Old folks tend to absorb large quantities of vitamin B-12 when it is given as shots.

2. But they have difficulty in absorbing it—no matter how much they need it—when they take it in pill or liquid form.

All Right, He Said

Dr. Chow said B-12 is an all right vitamin, no question about that, when it comes to aiding persons suffering from anemia and children afflicted with tuberculosis, rheumatic fever and the like.

In children, the vitamin has proved it can aid growth and general well-being.

And it's a help to the old folks when it's absorbed.

The trouble with the experiments that led to formation of the theories was that the nursing home residents and the Hopkins students live vastly different lives. That could affect the results, Dr. Chow said.

Only in prison, he said, can scientists find large numbers of individuals—young, middle-aged and old—who eat the same food, sleep about the same hours and follow similar routines of work and recreation.

60 Prisoners Volunteer

Sixty prisoners have volunteered to help with the experiments.

Dr. Chow said that if the theories are upheld, researchers will be faced with two possibilities. Either B-12 will have to be given to older people by injection or scientists will have to discover something that would help them absorb the vitamin when taken in pill or liquid form.

The idea of the whole experiment is to get vitamin B-12 into the body of the old folks where it can work its wonders.

"We are trying to add life to years," said Dr. Chow, "not just years to life. We are not interested in putting people on rocking chairs for long years. We want them to work and enjoy life."

Dr. Heald Directs State Survey of Cash School Help

Albany, July 30 (AP)—Dr. Henry Townley Heald, chancellor of New York University, will direct a $150,000 state survey aimed in part at overhauling New York's system of financial aid for public schools.

Gov. Dewey appointed Heald yesterday as chairman of the temporary commission on educational finances and suggested that the sweeping study might result in broadening of the tax factors used in reckoning state aid.

The present formula is based upon the assessed valuation of real property in a school district and upon the daily average pupil attendance.

Dewey said the other 14 members of the commission probably would be appointed next week. They will receive no salary.

Objects Outlined

The commission, established by the 1954 Legislature, was given a $150,000 appropriation to study:

The state aid formula, the present and future financial needs of public schools, the effects of constitutional tax and debt limits on school finances, teachers' pay schedules and any need for revising them and the possibility of more economies in school administration.

The study will lead to a basic change in the present aid formula, the governor indicated.

Under the formula, districts with the lower total property values are given a greater share of state aid for each pupil.

"One of the purposes of the study will be to examine the state aid formula in the light of the study of assessments now being completed by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment," Dewey said.

Nearly a third of the state budget goes for education, Dewey noted. He said that state aid to schools had climbed from 109 million dollars annually to 327 million in the last 10 years and he predicted that the figure, under the present formula, would reach 400 million a year in the early 1960s.

3,273 Landlords Answer Summons

New York, July 30 (AP)—A record total of 3,273 landlords appeared in Municipal Term Court yesterday to answer summonses for multiple dwelling law violations.

The landlords appeared before the bench in groups of 100. At one time 750 of them were lined in the street awaiting their turn.

The previous record was 800 on June 29.

All the landlords were told: Eliminate the violations by next Jan. 4 or face fines or possible jail sentences.

Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh said he expected that, by September 1955, the owners of 100,000 tenements would be brought into court, "equaling the number brought into court in the last 20 years."

Murtagh predicted that "this city of slums will be a city without slums by March of 1956."

Death By the Box:

Hidden Danger of Discarded Iceboxes Takes Annual Fatal Toll of Children

Each year, playing children crawl into discarded iceboxes and refrigerators and are unable to get out. In the six years, 1948-53, there were nearly 50 cases where from one to five children were thus trapped in these incidents, 79 children have died. In February, 1954, two more were added to the death toll. Summer is the critical time. Old iceboxes or refrigerators are potential death traps because one essential of the cabinet is that it be airtight. Once the door is closed (which automatically latches it) whatever air is inside will be exhausted by the child in a relatively short time.

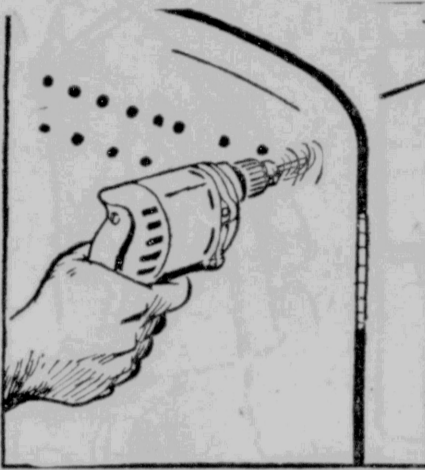

According to the National Safety Council, which annually issues warnings against this hazard, there should be a conscious effort to dispose of these empty iceboxes, refrigerators or freezers. It can be done by owners as individuals or by community groups. There are more than 50,000,000 iceboxes, refrigerators, freezers and other such airtight cabinets in use today. They are being discarded at the rate of approximately two to three million a year. It is now estimated that the number of discards will continually increase over the next few years. The council's recommendations for making the boxes safe are illustrated here.

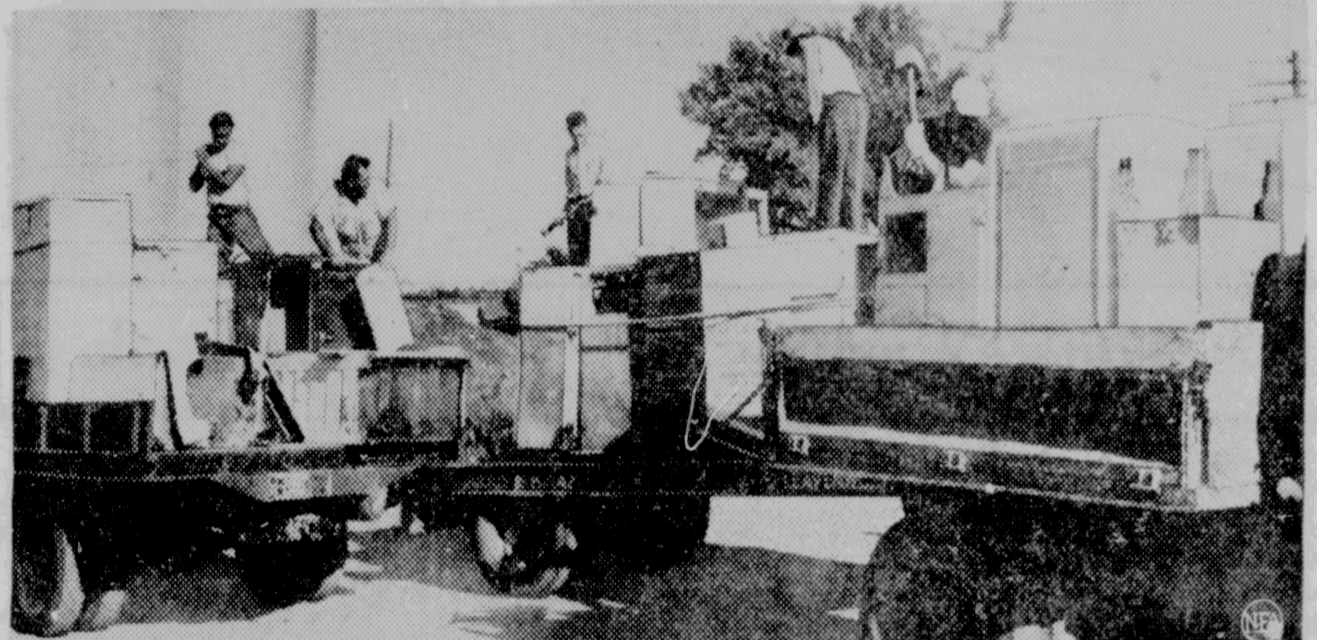

REMOVE DOOR. It's the best way to make airtight cabinets completely safe.

REMOVE THE LATCH STOP by removing the screws from the plate.

DRILL HOLES in the cabinet and REMOVE RUBBER GASKET. These easy operations together, but not singly, will unseal box and allow air in.

Community action by civic groups is a good method of eliminating the hazard of discarded refrigerators that has been used by some communities. This photo was taken during a roundup of old iceboxes by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Leavenworth, Kan. The Jaycees are using sledge hammers to make the boxes harmless.

Jewish Veterans Took No Part in Roy Cohn's Dinner

New York, July 30 (AP)—The Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A. said yesterday it did not take part Wednesday night in a testimonial dinner to Roy Cohn, resigned chief counsel of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee.

The JWWV said press reports to the effect that it participated were "completely erroneous."

It said the JWWV National Executive Committee on July 17 passed a "strong resolution opposing Sen. McCarthy and philosophy of government as evidenced by conduct of congressional investigations."

The Associated Press listed the JWWV as among groups presenting testimonials to Cohn at the dinner, sponsored by the joint committee against communism in New York.

Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, coordinator of the committee, said yesterday the JWWV is not a member.

Dr. Morris Jacobson, a Queens optometrist, had been introduced to the dinner guests as Americanism chairman of both his local JWWV and American Legion Posts.

Jacobson said yesterday, however, that while he holds those positions he represented a third local group when he presented a scroll to Cohn.

Furrier Is Acquitted

New York, July 30 (AP)—A Federal Court jury, after 65 minutes of deliberation yesterday, acquitted Abraham April, 63-year-old furrier, of 749 West End avenue, of conspiracy to use influence to obtain promotions for post office clerks in the general post office, allegedly for sums of money ranging from $200 to $1,300. The trial began July 21 before Federal Judge Edmund Palmieri and a jury of 11 men and 1 woman. Two co-defendants, who pleaded guilty and testified against the furrier, were his brother-in-law, Joseph Frank, 58, of 34-40 78th street, Jackson Heights, Queens, a former post office station examiner, and Joseph E. Arensen, 54, of 1308 Hicks avenue, the Bronx, a former superintendent of the Morningside post office station.

Ways Outlined to Receive Benefits of Tax Measure

Washington, July 30 (AP)—Here are some of the ways you as an individual taxpayer can benefit through the big tax revision bill now on President Eisenhower's desk for almost certain signature:

Dividend income—If you're a stockholder, you won't have to pay any tax at all on the first $50 of income in dividends. Furthermore, you can take 4 per cent of any dividend income above $50 and deduct that from your tax payment.

Medical expenses—You may deduct medical expenses above 3 per cent of income, instead of 5 per cent as at present. But you must remember that from now on you may only deduct sums spent for drugs and medicines above 1 per cent of your income. Also, you can have a total medical deduction of $10,000 for your family; the limit has been $5,000.

Retirement income—You won't have the basic 20 per cent tax rate on the first $1,200 of retirement income received after you pass 65. If you're a retired government employee such as a teacher, fireman or policeman, you can get the benefit even though you're under 65.

Working mothers—If you must work to support children under 12 or other dependents, and if your husband is incapacitated or if the combined income of the family is less than $4,500, you may deduct up to $600 spent for child care.

Soil Outlays Help

Soil conservation—If you're a farmer putting a lot of money into soil rebuilding, you may deduct these outlays up to 25 per cent of your gross income.

College students—If you have a child who is under 19 or in college and has a job which pays him more than $600 a year, you may continue to list him as a dependent with a $600 exemption on your return if you pay half of his support.

Charitable contributions—You may deduct up to 30 per cent on your income for charitable contributions, instead of 20 as at present.

Installment buying—You may deduct the carrying charges on such purchases, even though they're not specifically stated as interest in the contract.

Head of Household—If your husband or wife dies, you may continue for two years to get the full benefit of income splitting as on a joint return.

Filing date—You won't have to sit up late over your return on March 14 any more. The 41-year-old March 15 filing deadline is abandoned; starting next year it'll be April 15.

Health, Accident

Health and accident plans—If you miss work because of an illness or an injury, you are entitled to tax exemption on payments made to you by your employer, up to $100 a week, if they are issued under a regular health and accident plan. The exemption does not apply in the first seven days of an illness, unless you are hospitalized.

Declarations of estimated tax—If you're married and have up to $10,000 of income, practically all of it subject to withholding, you no longer need to file a declaration of estimated tax.

Rapid depreciation—If you're a businessman or farmer, you may use the new double declining balance method of quick depreciation on a plant or piece of equipment. This means that in the first year of life, you can write off twice the amount for depreciation now allowed; thus you can concentrate most of the write-off in the early years of use of the item.

The accelerated depreciation plan will benefit chiefly corporations. They get other relief, too, including:

More liberal treatment for research expenditures.

Greater freedom to set aside surpluses.

The right to offset a loss against profits of two prior years instead of one as now.

Elimination of utilities of the 2 per cent penalty tax on consolidated returns.

Greatly expanded depletion allowances for mining companies.

A cut-off date of April 1, 1955, for the 52 per cent corporation tax rate, at which time it automatically drops to 47 per cent unless Congress continues it again.

THE WELL RUNS DRY

Some of the comforts of modern living have become so cheap and so commonplace that we take them for granted—that is we take them for granted until they are no longer available.

Every summer cities and towns across the United States experience water shortages. These shortages vary in seriousness. Sometimes they merely mean that bans on sprinkling lawns are imposed. In other instances they mean that there actually is not enough water to meet the drinking, cooking and cleaning needs of the people. On such occasions people become very aware of what a blessing a plentiful supply of water can be.

Some of the areas hit by water shortages have no one but themselves to blame. They fail to take the necessary steps to insure an adequate supply. The people who live in these areas frequently object to paying higher water rates or higher taxes to make needed improvements in the water systems. In other places, however, it's the climate and location that are responsible and not public neglect.

Usually the shortages do not last long, although they can be troublesome and expensive while they do. It is a bit disheartening to see an expensive and usually efficient water system dry down to a trickle. Sometimes it can be helped; sometimes it can't. In any event the shortages make people aware of how, for all the progress man has made, he is still dependent on forces beyond his control for some of his needs.

WE GET WHAT WE DESERVE

Rowland R. Hughes has one of the toughest and most responsible jobs in the country—Director, Bureau of the Budget. He recently said: "A point I wish strongly to emphasize is that this fiscal and budget task is one which requires teamwork. There are three distinct parties to it: the administration, of course; the Congress, definitely; but the public—the citizen—is equally important. How much can be done by the administration and the Congress is primarily dependent upon the support of public opinion."

Most men in political life keep their ears to the ground. They try to give their constituents and the voters at large what they think is wanted. To a very great extent, it is the people who lead—and their representatives in government who follow.

That is certainly true of our financial affairs as a nation. If we really want economical government, we will get it—if we want wasteful, paternalistic government, we will get that. It is true, of course, that everyone pays lip service to the cause of governmental economy. It is equally true that, when the chips are down, we too often want all the economy confined to the other fellow—not to us. This "take it out of his pocket, not mine" attitude is largely the reason why it is so enormously difficult to even moderately reduce non-essential spending.

Here an old axiom applies with full force: We get the kind of government we deserve.

DOUBLE THE EIGHT, LAD!

The eight-year-old boy who wrote for a driver's license in New Jersey said in his letter: "I know enough about driving that I could drive a car just right." The state director of motor vehicles let him down gently.

"I don't want to sound like an old fuddy-duddy, but don't you think eight years old is just a little bit too young to drive?"

The trouble with young drivers is that they think—and sometimes their parents are enlightened enough to think so, too—that "knowing enough about driving to drive a car just right" is all there is to it. But it isn't. Judgment is needed, and the sense of responsibility required to handle a dangerous weapon safely among other well-meaning people many of whom are without judgment.

Most Americans will wholeheartedly agree with the New Jersey director of

'These Days'

THE MIXED ECONOMY

The great debate over atomic power which frightened so many politicians is, in reality, a struggle over whether the economy of this country is to remain capitalistic, to become socialized, or to be what is sometimes called mixed. A better phrase would be mixed up.

Ultimately all power, light and heat for the United States ought to come from atomic fission. Into the production of this unit of industry, the Government of the United States has poured approximately $5,000,000,000 of the taxpayers' money. It can therefore be argued that this product of the Atomic Energy Commission is the property of the Government of the United States.

A little foresight, however, will undoubtedly frighten those who believe in capitalism because if the atomic energy industry is capable, at low cost, of providing power, light and heat, the coal and electricity industries will sooner or later go out of existence. This means that those who invested their private earnings in these industries will suffer a loss due to competition by the Government of the United States, unless the Government purchases the plants and equipment. Those learned legislators who spoke of a "give away" would have been more correct had they used the term, "take away."

It can be said that new inventions make old industries obsolete; that as new ideas and new methods prevail, they take the place of existing means of production and distribution. In the changeover from one type of production and distribution, private enterprise has some opportunity for readjustment. Those who own "broad shares" could purchase automobile companies. Very few such enterprises are monopolized by single individuals, but represent a distribution of ownership which amounts to public participation in the risk for profit or loss.

Whatever the Government owns is a monopoly, held by the political power of the state. The combination of political and economic power, controlled by a bureaucracy that is impervious to the shifts in the elected echelons of government, leads inevitably to Fascism, which is the government control of both the political and economic power. Capitalism is an economic system in which the individual is able to invest his surplus earnings in enterprise according to his private judgment and at his own risk. Capitalism in the United States has been modified by the tax system which limits the accumulation of the individual's earnings first by a graduated income tax and secondly by a graduated inheritance tax. The word, "graduated," is important because these taxes are so devised that all but those who possess immense wealth or who are given exceptional deductions or who find means to evade the tax laws suffer from a roof on their end earnings; that is, take home pay or profits after taxes are limited by law.

These limitations have not served to end the period of expansion of American industry, but there is a constant fear in this country that the such government enterprise will decrease. Huge accumulations of private capital are held by the life insurance companies which are able to make loans for safe undertakings. Also, the Government, during the war years, and subsequently, made large loans to private enterprises, some of which came into existence and expanded on government loans rather than by public participation in the enterprise. Some of these benefits went to private individuals; some were eventually developed into publicly-owned enterprises. In a word, the Government went into the banking business and is loaded down with partial ownership of numerous properties. Similarly, through the Commodity Credit Corporation, the Government is a huge owner of foods and materials which are taken off or put on the market for political reasons.

The TVA and some other enterprises are owned by the Government in competition with private companies producing power and light. Such government enterprises enjoy the advantage of not paying for the capital they use and of not paying taxes. The development of atomic energy for power and light as a government enterprise will eliminate private capital from this phase of industry altogether. It could mean that the basis of all production will be socialized. As every other industry is dependent upon light and power, all industry will, in a measure, be dependent upon the willingness of government to provide the product not competitively in the market but politically.

BOILS

A very painful and also embarrassing affliction is a boil. A boil is a quite rounded pus infection of the deep layer of the skin and the tissues immediately beneath; the boil surrounds the roots of a hair, a sweat or an oil gland. It is always due to pus-forming organisms which enter by way of a small cut, scratch, shaving, rough collar, hair cut too short. Boils may also occur with certain general diseases—overweight, diabetes, stomach and intestinal disturbances, too much rich food, infection of teeth and tonsils.

It appears as a raised, rounded lump on the skin with pain and itching. The lump enlarges and a yellowish spot appears at the top. If the system does its "core" is opened, thick yellow pus and sometimes a hard yellow "core" come out.

Prevention calls for absolute cleanliness of regions where boils usually occur—neck, armpits, groin. The urine should be examined for sugar.

In treatment, it is usually considered wise not to open the boil at once but to allow it to "ripen," applying only poultice or paste used to the boil only, not to the surrounding skin. If there is a little hair in the center, it should be plucked out and a zinc paste or the old familiar poultice of equal parts of laundry soap and brown sugar should be applied.

When the boil is "pointed" and ready to open, a toothpick is dipped into carbolic acid and used to make an opening in the boil to allow the pus to come out.

When a boil or crop of boils occur from time to time, the cause should be sought and the diet and other daily habits investigated. The whole system should be toned up by outdoors, violet ray or X-ray to improve the tone and the infection-resisting ability of the blood.

Too much sugar in the blood from eating starch foods—bread, potatoes, sweets—is a frequent cause of boils.

A particularly painful boil is that which may occur in the ear. It can be distinguished from ear infection because it causes pain on opening the mouth. Careful attention from the physician and pain-killing drugs may be necessary in these cases.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Throwing the Communist-dominated government out of Guatemala does not mark the end of much needed reform in that Central American republic. It is just a new beginning.

The reform is needed not only within the Guatemalan government, but also to a considerable extent in U. S. relations toward Guatemala. For a strong case can be made that the rise of communism in Guatemala was as much the result of a bad neighbor policy on the part of the U. S. as it was the capture of the country by a Communist fifth column.

What the political, social and economic policies of the new three-man junta under Carlos Castillo Armas may have not yet been fully disclosed.

They are said to be anti-Communist and pro-U. S.—which is a fine start.

They have said that they will keep the land reform law of the old Arbenz regime, which split up the big estates and gave land to the peasants as tenants of the government. Colonel Armas intends to make them the owner, though how the original owners are to be paid has not been explained.

What is needed is a broad program to raise the standard of living for the two million of Guatemala's three million people who are illiterate Indians.

The U. S. government has taken the first step towards a possible reform of its own attitude towards Guatemala and all of Latin America by the Department of Justice anti-trust suit filed against United Fruit. The complaint charges monopolistic control over the banana trade and related industries.

While this company is recognized as well-managed, paying high wages, taking care of its employees and contributing a great deal to the economies of a dozen Central American countries over the past 50 years, some of its practices have been open to criticism.

One of the most impartial authoritative studies to date of the Guatemalan economy and United Fruit's position in it was made in 1951 by an International Bank of Reconstruction survey mission.

It was headed by Dr. George E. Britnell of University of Saskatchewan and included as U. S. members Dr. Ralph H. Allen, director of the Inter-American Institute of Agricultural Science and Maj.-Gen. Edmund H. Leavelle of the Army Corps of Engineers.

This is one excerpt from the bank's report on United Fruit and its subsidiary International Railway control of the Guatemalan port facilities at Puerto Barrios on the Gulf.

"In brief, Guatemala agreed that until the year 2004, the railway might operate free of taxation on its properties, free of payment of duties on its imports, free of control on its rates except as to very liberal maxima, and free of competition from other railways. Ownership or control of property in Puerto Barrios gives the railway company a virtual monopoly on the construction and operation of piers and on the use of the inshore harbor area."

The bank's mission recommended a complete overhaul of the Guatemalan tax system to raise the equivalent of an additional $8 million and balance its budget, as of 1949, at around $50 million.

The county then had no income taxes, no liquor taxes, and such taxes as were authorized were largely evaded. Foreign enterprises were largely exempt except for small export taxes on agricultural products.

"A provision of U. S. law allows these corporations to be credited, for income tax purposes, with the amount of taxes on their net income paid to other countries," the bank report pointed out.

"Thus additional revenues of at least $1 million might readily be obtained without adding to the international tax burden of foreign investors. This question cannot be solved, however, until the more general one of readjustment of existing contracts is settled."

As a long-range program, the bank mission recommended rural, educational, industrial and transport development. Only this kind of program with plenty of American technical assistance to give the Guatemalan people themselves a better break, can really resist communism.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 28—Jonathan Daniels is a peculiar sort of journalist. When I wrote to inquire about various matters, all I got from him was "I don't explain my ethics as a journalist but only try to live up to them." Of course it is not his duty to comply with a statement for anyone who happens to inquire. But Jonathan is a prominent figure in both our journalism and our politics and frankly a prophet of a revolution which never was proclaimed to be a revolution until great changes had been wrought.

In his Truman biography, "Man of Independence," he told us, and for the first time, that Max Lowenthal, the lawyer who blasted the FBI, had drawn a bead on Truman when Truman was just a hick in the Senate, steered him to Louis D. Brandeis for radical indoctrination, and ultimately put him over for seven of the most fateful years of our national existence.

Now, in another book called "The End of Innocence," Daniels tells us that in 1910, just three years before the first Wilson inauguration, Brandeis wrote, "if only there were a Democratic party, what havoc could be wrought!"

Commenting on this, Daniels wrote that neither William Jennings Bryan nor Joseph Daniels would have used the word "havoc" when they landed in Washington for the inaugural and to take office in 1913.

"Their purpose, like their appearances, were benign," he wrote. "The Democratic party, however, was not as simple as its celebrating mood. There were men in the party who persuaded Wilson that he could not afford to name so radical a man as Brandeis as secretary of commerce."

Col. E. M. House, a mysterious character, is depicted as an evil, sinister force. Apparently he was. But why he had taken this man who knew the score then or learned it not long afterward, all these years to let the American people in on the secrets of this dark phase of our history?

Daniels' "education" was a continuing process, but surely the people for whom he professes vast and juicy affection and whose judgment he trusts with patronizing ostentation, deserved to know what was being done to them. For all I know to the contrary, neither Daniels, father nor son, disclosed to the people many facts which were not a credit to Wilson, F. D. Roosevelt or Truman, which, being disclosed, might have made the people reject these supermen and their self-acknowledged apostles.

Daniels speaks of Colonel House as a small man "with strange, catlike eyes, a broad forehead and a thin face." And he confirms for the first time that House actually was the author of a weird and, in part prophetic novel, called "Philip

Rhee Talk Might Not Have Brought Congressional Agreement on Formula

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 30—President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea told a joint session of both Houses of Congress some unpalatable truths. But it is doubtful whether many members agreed with the implications of his formula, even though they may have considered his point of view natural and logical from his standpoint.

"Jet bombers," he said in describing the Communist threat, "lie within ten minutes of our National Assembly."

This tells the real reason for Mr. Rhee's uneasiness and his realistic appraisal of the situation confronting his countrymen. Communist airfields, he asserts, have been "newly constructed in defiance of armistice terms."

Everybody here knows these to be facts, because they have been officially reported. But, while such truth is glossed over and brushed aside as something folks here do not like to think about, Syngman Rhee nevertheless has to think about it. What he tried to do with his speech was to persuade the American Congress to think about it, too. Mr. Rhee adds that "death is scarcely closer to Seoul than it is to Washington, for the destruction of the United States is the prime objective of the conspirators in the Kremlin." He is confident that all the Soviets are doing is lulling Americans "into a sleep of death" by talking peace until the Soviet Union possesses enough hydrogen bombs and intercontinental bombers to pulverize the airfields and productive centers of the United States by a sneak attack.

This could happen, and history may prove him right some day, for the western alliance undoubtedly will be taking a big gamble with fate if it ignores that possibility.

There are those who say President Rhee's speech is unfortunately worded, as it may give the Communist propaganda a chance to cry "war-monger." But that's precisely what the sturdy Korean executive wants to overcome—the tendency in America to consult the enemy about what to do about the enemy. His words were forthright and deliberately chosen because he thinks America is not sufficiently alert to the danger that faces the whole world in the explosive situation of Asia today.

Dr. Rhee wants the American air force and navy to help but says no American foot soldiers will be necessary, as these will be furnished by Asian countries. It is significant that the Korean president does not talk any more about "going it alone" but urges an allied operation, which he has a right to do in the debate of the free world.

He thinks the troops of Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa—he estimates them at 630,000—would be useful in arousing the Chinese people when an attack is made and that most of the so-called Communist army will not remain loyal but will revolt at the first opportunity. He emphasizes, for example, that out of the soldiers of the Communist army captured in Korea only 220 chose to go back to Red China, while 14,363 chose to join the Nationalists on Formosa.

Does this add up to "preventive war"? Not as Dr. Rhee sees it. For he talks with the logic of a soldier. His country is at war already. Millions of his countrymen—innocent men, women, and children—have been killed and what he describes as an "unwise armistice" is being violated every day by the warlike moves of the other side. So to him it seems plain that to resist encroachment is not wrong and that, rather, the free world is wishfully disregarding the facts of Far Eastern life today. He wants the United States and its allies to show firmness and to be prepared to fight if necessary. With a grim suspicion that many of his audience might not agree with him, Dr. Rhee added:

"I am aware that this is hard doctrine. But the Communists have made this a hard world, a horrible world, in which to be soft is to become a slave."

There was no applause but a solemn silence as he touched on some delicate points. The Congress, however, cheered frequently during the course of the address, and at its conclusion gave the brave man from Korea a personal ovation seldom equaled in the chamber of the House. For in their hearts many members felt that, while Syngman Rhee's advice could not for reasons of expediency be adopted at this time, maybe history might prove him right in his warning of what happens when an unpalatable truth is ignored. Dairy Demand Is Based on Drouth

New York, July 30 (AP)—A milk price increase for dairymen has been demanded on the ground they are suffering "the worst drouth of recent years."

The Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn., listing 26,000 farmer members, has taken its case to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The league wants a hike of 50 cents per hundredweight (46.5 quarts). C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, forecast on July 21 that the July uniform price for milk deliveries to approved plants in the New York marketing area would be $3.69 per hundredweight.

Ernest C. Strobeck, president of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn., announced yesterday that he had sent a telegram on the issue to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson. The wire requested a hearing to consider the price increase demand, and it recommended an official survey of drouth damage.

Worldwide Requirement
A hearing on milk marketing orders would be needed before a price increase could be put into effect.

Strobeck gave this picture of the dairy farmers' situation: "Thousands of farms have no grass in their pasture lands. Many farmers 'are using hay and grass silage that was stored for next winter, and some are buying imported citrus and beet pulp to replace pasture feeding."

"These conditions plainly indicate," he added, "imminent danger of inadequate milk supplies for New York city and other great cities in this milkshed."

Editor, The Freeman:

Kindly publish the following letter expressing our appreciation to Mayor Stang and all the others who in any way helped to re-open Kingston Point Beach.

I am sure that many others like myself would like to thank you and all others who made it possible to bring back to life Kingston Point swimming beach. As everyone knows there is no healthier sport than swimming. At last we will have in Kingston a safe and sane place to swim.

For years our different political parties have talked of doing just what you are doing, but no one ever did anything about it. Going down there today to let the children enjoy themselves was a pleasure and as Sophie Miller would say, "brought back many a memorable day spent when we were young." I know she did all she could to bring it back.

We know it is going to be a great success and we are all with you 100 per cent. We hope to do our part by keeping it clean.

Yours truly,

MRS. GEORGE DUFFNER.

Elaine Malbin will do telecasts of "The Girl of the Golden West," a full-fledged opera, over England's BBC TV network in the fall. But there may be an international incident before the telecast begins. In one scene, she rides a horse, and the English want her to use an English saddle. Elaine says it was to be a Western saddle. And there the matter stands now.

She's lucky they're giving her a horse. The English usually prefer an 'orse.

You might think that, after eight years of playing "Twenty Questions" once a week, the Van Deventer family would be slightly bored with the game. Ah, but you would be wrong. They still like it, still play it in the car riding home to Princeton, N. J., after the show, still play it two or three times a week while eating dinner.

"I stuck them last night, said Fred Van Deventer, the lord and master of the clan. "I gave them the leafy arms from the poem, 'Trees,' and they couldn't get it."

"About once every six months," said Mrs. Van Deventer, who, as Florence Rinard, also appears on the ABC-TV show, "one of us will bring out the hardest one of all—the weakest link in a chain. That one is virtually ungettable."

"It started," said Van Deventer, "on the program. Somebody sent it in and we missed it. Well, we were playing in the car on the way home and Johnny McPhee, who was on then, picked that subject again. We went 102 questions and still couldn't get it. It's very tough, for some reason."

To show you how unboared they are with the game, Van Deventer says he has missed no shows at all since they first went on, back in '46, and his wife has missed only one. "And still," he says, "we look forward to the program each week."

In case you've toyed with the idea of submitting a subject, go right ahead. Only don't send in either Fala or Churchill's cigar—they've both been entered a few hundred thousand times. The apple that Eve ate and the cherry tree George Washington chopped down are other pretty active topics.

All in all, though, "Twenty Questions" keeps rolling along in good shape. At the ripe young age of eight, it's the oldest established game-quiz around, and it was the first to make the big jump to television.

Shows what you can do with a little animal, vegetable and imagination.

Johnny Desmond is one of these rarest of rare birds — a handsome male singer with a lot of male fans. That's because he got his start singing in the Army during World War 2, vocalizing with Major Glenn Miller's band.

Once, Johnny says, six of his fans found their radio on the blink so they crossed enemy lines and swiped another set from the Nazis — just so they could hear the Miller-Desmond broadcast. That's Johnny's story, anyhow.

And, says the Coral Record singer, many of his old buddies and fellow GIs are still loyally following his career. Nobody much does any swooning or screaming, but he says it's nice to have some fans, even without bobby-sox.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

Auf! Auf! Aufwiedersehn!

Starting next Monday, I intend to shut up shop, portable and mouth, and take a vacation. And to get things shipshape before I shove off, I've been cleaning out the icebox, various closets and a few desk drawers.

As anyone on Broadway will tell you, I'm a fellow who hates to throw anything away, even a gag. So instead of donating the debris around my place to the Department of Sanitation, I'm going to gift-wrap it and send it along to folks who, I figure, can put my discards to excellent use.

To Frank Sinatra: half a bottle of milk to put some flesh on his talented bones.

To Christine Jorgensen: an old straight razor to help her keep that scholgirl complexion.

To the Theatre Guild: a scrap of paper with Bobby Clark's phone number.

To Liberace: a cracked mirror.

To Sid Richardson of Fort Worth, Texas: three pennies I found behind the sofa so he can make it an even million.

To the junior Senator from Wisconsin: a pair of rubber fins to help him swim against the current.

To Greta Garbo: a long drawn-out sigh which I have been keeping for years in a tightly corked bottle.

To Senator John W. Bricker who once said that Indo-China was "outside our sphere of interest": a banged-up fork to help him eat his words.

To Salvador Dali: a pair of old ear-muffs to keep the ends of his mustache out of his ears.

To Ben Hecht: all the white paper I can find, in case he's planning a sequel to his current best seller, "Child of the Century," the most exciting autobiography since "Lawrence of Arabia."

To Truman Capote, who is now writing lyrics: an old scratch pad I found in a closet which once belonged to Larry Hart.

To Josephine Hull: the contents of my medicine cabinet in the hope that they'll cure whatever it is that's ailing her.

To Mrs. Caffritz, Washington's most ambitious hysteres: an Alpine hat with wilted feather suitable for social climbing.

To Mickey Spillane: an elderly typewriter ribbon that leaves no impression on the paper at all.

A chunk of senile roquefort to the directors of the Little Baseball League in Conway, South Carolina, who ruled that "players will be permitted to chew bubble gum but will not be permitted to blow bubbles."

To Bernard M. Baruch: an old watch that doesn't run. He's about the only fellow I can think of who knows what time it is anyhow.

To the editors and the boys around the shop: a box of chocolate cigars by way of saying thanks for everything. (Copyright, 1954, by Billy Rose) (Distributed by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Audubon Bird Books

Orange, Tex. (P)—James John Audubon's personal volumes of "Birds of America" have been acquired by H. J. Lutter Stark for a sum "in excess of $30,000."

The five volumes contain 1,605 life-sized paintings of birds by the famous naturalist, who died in 1851. They arrived in Orange under armed guard from Philadelphia. Stark added the books to a priceless collection of art treasures started by his mother, the late Mrs. Miriam Lutter Stark.

To Be Open to Public at New Paltz

The famous Bevier-Elting house will be open to the public at "Stone House Day," New Paltz, August 7. Built in 1698 by Louis Bevier, one of the original Huguenot patentees, it has a cellar kitchen fully equipped with all the items that were household necessities two hundred years ago.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Stone House Day Program

New Paltz, July 29 — The fourth year for the annual Stone House Day will be celebrated on August 7 in New Paltz. The Dutch Reformed Church will again sponsor this eventful day.

New Paltz, early Huguenot Village, founded in 1678, has been an attraction for many years for all people interested in its stone houses of old, the family history, traditions, folklore and ancient documents, and it is hoped that this year with many added attractions, many more people will come to the old street.

The first government of the village was called the Duzine, meaning the Dozen. The Duzine was all powerful in making the laws of the community. The eldest man of each of the 12 families representing the descendants of the 12 Patentees, was a member of the law-making body, which was in existence for over 100 years.

This year five stone dwellings will be open to the public, the Freer House, Abraham Hasbrouck House, The Fort (Daniel DuBois House), Jean Hasbrouck House (Memorial House-Museum), and the Bevier-Elting

House. The first frame house, built by Lucas Van Wageningen (now owned by the Jamison Foundation) will also be open to the public, and will house a local art exhibition. Members of the Art Association of New Paltz have offered to place a number of local paintings on display for the event.

A special attraction this year will be the short pageant depicting a traditional event in the settlement of New Paltz. This year the Catherine DuBois Legend will come to life and be dramatized in pantomime. A reader will narrate the story with the choir doing the background music.

The cast of characters include: Mrs. Jean Jeanneny, Miss Marian Harding, Mrs. Leon Smith, Miss Helen Elting, Miss Helen Parker, Mrs. Mae Stahl, Miss Alice Finley, Ruth Heidgerd, Dee Deo Heidgerd, Dena DuBois, Edward DuBois, Robert Irwin, Mrs. Byron White, Mrs. Xan Green, Joanne Barg, Mrs. Peter Fogden, Miss Lucille Stephens, Mrs. Richard R. Hasbrouck, Jane Redfern and Sandy Glanz.

Lunch will be served by the ladies of the church between 12 noon and 2 p. m. Light refreshments will be served from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Organ recitals will be held at various times during the day in the Reformed Dutch Church built in 1838. An admission charge will be taken at the gate as you enter.

International Living Experiment Again

New Paltz, July 29 — Dr. Donald S. Allen, chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences at State University Teachers College at New Paltz, has announced that for the second year the New Paltz State Teachers College will participate in The Experiment in International Living.

Ten students from France who arrived in Quebec on July 7 are having a schedule of three major parts. The first part is called Homestay and will be in Albany where they will live in local homes. The second part is the educational project and it will be at New Paltz State Teachers College from August 5-August 19. They will end their trip with a City Stay in New York city.

According to Dr. Allen, who is the foreign student adviser at New Paltz, townspeople are welcome to invite these visiting students to Sunday dinner in their homes on August 8 or August 15. It has been the custom to invite a New Paltz student with each guest. Anyone interested in entertaining these visitors is asked to contact Dr. Allen in his office, New Paltz 2141.

Last year the Experiment in International Living brought students from Holland and England who visited New Paltz in the summer.

Faculty in Summer Educational Activities

Donald P. Ely, director of Audio-Visual Education at the State University Teachers Club at New Paltz, attended the annual summer meeting of the New York State Audio-Visual Council on July 2 at the Corning glass center. At this meeting arrangements were made to hold the next meeting of the Council in the summer of 1955 at the State University Teachers College at New Paltz.

Dr. Dorothy Hayes, chairman of the Division of Education, is leaving New Paltz Saturday to attend a three-week Parent Education Workshop at the University of Chicago. This Workshop is for leaders in education all over the country working together to develop materials for parent study groups.

Dr. George Bond, professor of education, will leave for Syracuse August 1 to conduct a workshop in reading with Dr. William Sheldon, director of the reading clinic of Syracuse University. After a week in Syracuse, Dr. Bond will return to New Paltz for his reading workshop.

Robert Lang, librarian at the New Paltz State Teachers College, reports a tremendous growth in the library in the past two years. In the year 1953, 6,000 books were added to the library and this last year, so far 5,684 new volumes have been acquired. The library is used widely by students and faculty with a circulation in the past year of 64,000 volumes.

Carol Truax, consultant in the Fine Arts for State University of New York, who is this summer teaching a drama workshop at New Paltz State Teachers College, took her class to the Wednesday matinee of the Broadway production The Golden Apple.

Nothing Stops Traffic

Greenville, S. C. (AP)—A naked 2-year-old boy pranced into a busy street. Traffic stopped until a Boy Scout ushered the youngster back to the safety of the curb. The little fellow repeated the performance. When police arrived, however, the toddler had disappeared up the steps to the second floor apartment where he lives.

Question of Defense

Detroit (AP)—Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson is advocating "disarmament." For years the Ayrshire cattle that have roamed Wilson's celebrated Windrow Farm have been recognized by their long, graceful upswep horns. But now 11 naturally hornless Ayrshires, purchased from Greenrange Farm in Vermont, can be seen at Windrow. The Wilson purchase is the largest single importation of the hornless breed in Michigan.

W. J. Keegan Dies

New York, July 30 (AP)—William J. Keegan, 58, reporter for the New York Post and a New York city newsman for 44 years, died today at his home (42-46 79th street) in Elmhurst, Queens. Keegan began his career as a copy boy on the old Evening World. When that paper went out of existence in 1931, he joined the staff of the World-Telegram. He went to the New York Post in 1937. He served as a yeoman in the navy in World War I. He was an organizer and first president of the Newspaper Reporters Association.

Views at Rifton Cooperative

A view of the old Dimmick home at Rifton, main building on a 96-acre estate purchased last week by the Society of Brothers, on which they are establishing a cooperative community.

geles by Superior Judge Charles Fricke, who pronounced sentence on Chessman in 1948 after he was convicted of eight counts of robbery, four of kidnapping, two of sex perversion, one of attempted rape, one of auto theft and one of attempted robbery.

"I feel," Judge Fricke said, "that when a case has been heard by all the courts in the state that have proper jurisdiction and all those courts have been uniform in their decisions, such last minute reprieves should be checked."

Chessman, a criminal since teenage days—but with an intelligence rating just below genius level—was convicted of a series of attacks in Los Angeles lovers lane.

The state said he flashed a red light from his auto—pretended he was a police officer to halt couples—and then dragged out his female victims and forced them to submit to acts of sexual perversion.

One of his victims is still a patient of a state mental institution. His legal attempts to avoid execution have been based on another contention—that his trial court transcript was incomplete and misleading.

The court reporter denied leaving 1,200 pages of an old-style shorthand to be transcribed. It was finished by others who improvised where necessary.

Chessman now contends that the use of such a transcript in the long series of appeals amounted to convicting him with a fraudulent document.

The U. S. Supreme Court twice in 1952 declined to review the case.

Rifton Estate

raising some of their own crops and installing woodworking machinery in a converted barn.

It is by the manufacture of educational toys of wood that the group earns its way. The toys are unpainted, so as not to contain any coloring ingredient that might be harmful to children. They are made of carefully selected wood that will not splinter, and they are sold to various school boards for use in kindergartens, as well as to families.

Included in the line are educational building blocks, animal figures, floor trains, giant dominoes, and an ingenious device called a "Vary-Play" triangle set that can be used in 17 different ways.

Is 'Way of Life'

Community members, however, emphasize that the cooperative endeavor at Rifton is not an industry. It is, they will tell you, a way of life stressing service rather than self-gain.

The Society of Brothers is a small fraternity, numbering slightly more than 1,000 members in the world, according to Guy Johnson, an English brother who is here to help set up the Rifton community, which has adopted the name, Woodcrest.

Membership includes persons of many nationalities. There are approximately 750 Brothers in Paraguay, 200 in England, 35 in Uruguay and 40 at Rifton. The figures include men, women and children.

Founded in 1920 in Germany by the late Eberhard Arnold, the Society—in German, the Bruderhof—grew steadily and in 1936 began a second colony in England. On April 14, 1937, the German community was suddenly taken over by the State Secret Police under the Hitler regime and was ordered dissolved. Three executive members were imprisoned, but the other members were permitted to go to England to join the community at Wiltshire.

Went to South America

When invasion threatened, the English neighbors grew apprehensive of the presence of the Germans in the community—as over half the community membership was of that nationality—and the government made it possible in 1940 for members to emigrate to South America as an alternative to internment.

Some of the Society's property in England was sold to finance the passage to Paraguay and purchase of an estancia there. Later a smaller group set up a community in Uruguay. Although Johnson himself has been in Paraguay and when his job here is completed will return to England, many of the members of the Rifton community are newcomers to the Society, some of them coming from other cooperative communities in this country, not operated by the Society of Brothers.

The Society's communities are based upon the passage in the Acts of the Apostles which reads: "And all that believed were together, and had all things in common."

Although deeply religious, the Society dislikes being called a "cult" or "sect." There is little emphasis on doctrine among the Brothers, who feel, rather, that religion is a matter of practice in daily life, Guy Johnson explained. They have no formal church, although they do hold services in the dining hall of the old Dimmick estate.

Society members do not withdraw from the world. They have their representatives who extol the virtues of their product to school officials; they exhibit at various educational conferences.

Thruway Is Factor

In fact, one reason given by Johnson for selection of the Rifton site was the nearness of the Thruway, with easy access to New York and Boston.

"Here," he said, "we are sufficiently to one side to build up the kind of life we want." But, "we are not an island all to ourselves; we're glad to have contact with our neighbors." He pointed out that last Saturday a large number of area residents responded to an invitation to an open house on the property.

Johnson said the community hopes to be of service here in some way, but just how hasn't become evident as yet. In England, the Society's communities have cared for war orphans; in Paraguay they maintain a hospital.

Members of the community live by families. They will establish a private school for their children, but believe in sending their youth to the regular institutions of higher learning. The children are not automatically members of the Society because of birth, but are free to make up their own minds about accepting the kind of life as they reach adulthood.

About their relationship with the country in which they live, Johnson explained the Brothers' attitude is similar to that of the Quakers, who hold to their religious convictions but obey the law of the land. For instance, in answer to a question concerning registration for Selective Service, Johnson said, "we do take a conscientious view, but we obey the law," indicating that Brothers will register as required, and will take the lawful procedure of application for classification as conscientious objectors to killing.

O. & W. Won't Say

of final plans. Tentative plans were announced and presented to the city early this year and it was then indicated that they could become effective in whole or part as the city decided.

The Common Council, on recommendation of Mayor Stang at its regular May meeting authorized the corporation counsel to bring proper proceedings before the PSC asking that the viaduct be eliminated and the crossings be made at grade.

Has Had Conferences

Abernethy, since then, has had conferences with officials in Albany, and has been doing other work in preparation for presentation of the city's application for removal of the structure.

The announcement by Attorney Oakes that the O & W will not oppose removal of the viaduct is the first important step supporting the city's effort to obtain favorable action.

A spur, extending from the junction of Albany avenue and Broadway to the thruway interchange system west of the city, if built, as planned as part of the arterial route system, would eliminate much heavy travel over the viaduct; but Washington avenue is still expected to get considerable traffic and the viaduct would still continue to be a serious traffic hazard.

Delinquency Case

commissioner of Welfare for placement.

The majority of adult cases to come before the Children's Court involved non-support of their families.

In his annual report to the board of supervisors, which has been filed with the clerk of the board, County Judge John M. Cashin, who is also judge of the Ulster County Children's Court, gives a statistical report of the work done between January 1, 1953 and January 1, 1954.

In addition to the delinquents who were committed to state institutions directly, it was also necessary to return to court for violation of probation six boys, four of whom were committed to a state institution.

Ordered to Contribute

In the cases of adults charged with non-support of families, either the respondent was ordered to contribute to the support of his family or he agreed to do so voluntarily and the petition was dismissed.

Nine filiation proceedings were disposed of in which proceedings were brought to establish paternity of children born out of wedlock and to compel support for said children.

Each year the amount of money received by the Probation Department under support orders has increased and during the past year Chief Probation Officer Edmund U. Burhans reported a total of $78,939.47 received and disbursed.

In the statistical portion of his report Judge Cashin points out that of the delinquency cases reported to him there were 33 boys charged with burglary or unlawful entry and one girl. Auto stealing was second with nine boys being so charged. Acts of carelessness or mischief came third on the list with five boys and two girls and there were two charges against boys of being ungovernable and five girls. One boy was charged with carrying a loaded firearm. Only two minors were charged with running away, that being divided equally between girls and boys.

Appear Before Court

In the neglect cases three boys and girls appeared before the court under charges of not having adequate physical care and there was one boy and two girls who came before the court because they were residing under conditions injurious to morals.

In the cases of physically handicapped children, physical care was ordered for 25 boys and 15 girls. Educational services were ordered for six boys and one girl.

Proceedings in Children's Court are under the state law not open to public review as are court cases in other courts. Names of minors are not made public and in all instances the proceedings are conducted in such a manner as to give the individual an opportunity to return to his or her community and start life over as a good citizen. For this reason much of the work done in Children's Court is never made known to the public. Many hours are spent each week by the judge of the Children's Court in attempting to carry out the work and to give those who appear before the court an opportunity to become useful citizens. In many

Teletype Out of Order

State police at Highland reported their teletype was out of order all night.

Rainfall, which apparently varied widely throughout the area, was recorded at .73 inch at Ashokan reservoir and 1.67 at Schoharie by New York city's Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

The rain forced an early exodus from the grounds of the Hurley Fire Company's carnival. The carnival will continue tonight and Saturday, however.

At Woodstock, the annual Library Fair held in the afternoon had already reached a successful conclusion before the storm struck.

The heavy downpour in Kingston caused trouble in the Broadway underpass where a man was reported injured while replacing a manhole cover that had been washed from place and a washout was reported at the thruway bridge on Hurley avenue.

Struck by Car

Arthur Crispell, 34, of 19 Ann street, suffered lacerations of the chest and right knee in the underpass mishap and was taken to Kingston Hospital where he was admitted for treatment.

A police report at 10:45 p. m., said Richard Kelderhouse of 43 St. James street, reported that while he was driving a cab south on Broadway it had struck the man replacing the manhole cover. He took Crispell to the hospital.

Shortly before that mishap police were notified by Ralph Garafola, 21, of Hanratty street, that his car had struck the uncovered manhole, and at 10:10 p. m. Jerry Ausanio, of 293 Main street, reported that his car was damaged when it went into an excavation, part of which, had been washed away by the heavy rain near 250 Main street. The public works department was notified.

Officers Joseph Kivian and Everett Emmick reported after investigating the washout on Hurley avenue that traffic was able to move but a warning sign would be necessary. The public works department was notified.

Enlist in Air Force

T/Sgt. John J. Norton, Jr., Station Commander for the USAF Recruiting service in this area announced today the recent enlistment of three Ulster county youths for the U. S. Air Force, making a total of 13 men who have joined that service since July 1. Recent enlistees are Howard B. Ackerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard V. Ackerman, Malden-on-Hudson; Walter J. Schuldt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Schuldt, Sr. Stone Ridge; and George P. Gruenewald, son of Mrs. Frances Gille, 13 Franklin street. Airman Ackerman was graduated from Saugerties High School in June '54. Airman Gruenewald is a 1954 Kingston High School grad while Airman Schuldt was graduated from KHS in 1953. They are now undergoing basic training at Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva.

2,000 in Legion Parade

New York, July 30 (AP)—A big parade down Fifth avenue highlights today's meeting of the 36th annual New York state convention of the American Legion. More than 2,000 convention delegates were expected to march in the parade, which starts at 5:30 p. m. (EDT). Yesterday the 40-and-8 Society, funmaking body of the organization, paraded on the avenue. Slightly dampened by a light rain, about 3,000 members cavorted to the tunes of various bands as the traditional 40-and-8 locomotives sounded their whistles and rang their bells. Police estimated that 25,000 persons watched.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., July 29—Readers have been disturbed by General Lindbergh's important article in the July 17th issue of the Saturday Evening Post. The gist of the Lindbergh article is that the H-Bomb is bringing about a new era in world history against which it will be almost impossible for any country to protect itself. This means that unless the United States is willing to start a surprise World War III, our only chance is to have such elaborate powers for retaliation that no other country will dare start one. This will mean continued high taxes until a revolution in Russia or something unforeseen happens.

Lindbergh's Theory Although my Organizations are not authorities on military affairs, we do know world history. Certainly conditions today are very similar to what they were 500 years ago. Any reader can check this by studying H. G. Wells' Outline of History, or Munro's The Middle Ages, or books on the Reformation and European Revolutions.

As was the case around 1450, the power of the established Churches today has distinctly weakened. The rulers of the Western Nations have today become timid, while the Russians are trying to absorb other nations—repeating the pattern of 500 years ago.

History shows similar conditions existed when printing became powerful in 1450. This, like the H-Bomb, became a threat to the entrenched rich political Kingdoms. The Church and Kings fought by legislation, persecution and wars; but the rise of the masses could not be stopped. The printed word became more powerful than the sword. Reformation, revolutions, and beheadings followed. The discovery of the H-Bomb is unsettling civilization today as did the birth of printing in 1450.

What About Capitalism? Naturally we do not want to see entrenched capitalism collapse as did entrenched monarchism. We now use legislation, submit to high taxes, and endure small wars to protect our way of life, as these same methods were practiced 500 years ago to protect established monarchism.

For the long pull, I am an optimist. I don't believe in the Lindbergh Retaliation Theory. I, however, do believe that the fear of the H-Bomb (like the fear of printing 500 years ago) could handicap our Western Democracies with a blow to the capitalist system.

What About Retaliation? Lindbergh's only hope of preventing our big cities from being destroyed is by constant threat of retaliation. Such will retard the forces of communism, but it will not accord with Christian teachings. Will the threat of retaliation save capitalism as we know it?

The Communists will not even win a Third World War, but they may gradually increase their power and influence by constantly threatening to start such a war. Surely, we may expect continual small wars, big military preparations and high taxes.

Preparing for the Worst My grandchildren agree with me that security cannot be obtained indefinitely by legislation, pensions, and tariffs. As our ancestors learned to live with "printed bombs," we must be prepared to live with H-Bombs. Jailing Communists today may be no more effective than was beheading or burning heretics 500 years ago. One of my own ancestors, the Reverend John Rogers, was burned "at the stake for translating and printing the Bible in 1555.

Hence, I urge my grandchildren: (1) To develop a strong

Everett S. Landers Receives Degree At Rider College

EVERETT S. LANDERS

Everett Sumner Landers of Hurley was one of 275 seniors to receive degrees and diplomas at the 89th annual commencement exercises at Rider College, Trenton, N. J., this morning.

He received a BS degree in commerce with a major in business administration.

United States Senator Homer E. Capehart of Indiana delivered the principal address.

Caphart, chairman of the Senate committee currently investigating questionable practices within the Federal Housing Authority, also received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Miss Bence Sails
For Home After 11
Months in Germany

Miss Gretchen Bence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew F. Bence of 259 Lucas avenue, has completed 11 months of study at the Hochschule of Music in Stuttgart, Germany, it was learned today.

Miss Bence, whose fine contralto operatic voice is well-known to Kingstonians, has been studying on a Fulbright Scholarship.

She will arrive in New York Monday morning, August 2, on the Independence, where she will be met by the Bences. She will return to Kingston about August 12.

Shandaken Church
Plans Annual Fair

The ladies of the Shandaken Methodist Church will hold their annual church fair on Saturday, August 7, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. on the church lawn. In case of rain it will be held in the church hall.

The fair will feature booths displaying handmade fancy articles, rag rugs, quilts, baby clothes and accessories, homemade candy, young flowering plants, aprons, a rummage display, books and homemade baked goods. There will also be several miscellaneous attractions.

The peculiar looping motion of the desert rattlesnakes, the sidewinder, keeps its body off the hot ground as much as possible.

Doris Henninger Becomes Bride of Albert Kiersted

Doris J. Henninger, daughter of Mrs. Ewald Henninger of 14 Lawrenceville street, became the bride of Albert Kiersted, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kiersted, Sr., of Lawrenceville street, in a double-ring ceremony Sunday, July 15, at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church. The Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor, performed the ceremony.

Miss Henninger, who was given in marriage by her brother, Charles Henninger, wore a gown of rose point lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a mandarin collar. Her bouffant skirt, paneled in lace and tulle terminated in a circular court train. A scalloped French illusion fingertip veil was secured by a bridal cap of lace and tulle embroidered with seed pearls. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet with white roses and swansons.

Her maid of honor, Shirley Henninger, a sister, wore a gown of pastel pink nylon net fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant floor length skirt trimmed with a draped swag. She wore a matching stole and a scroll type headpiece of stylized leaves. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet with dark pink carnations and rapture roses to match the gown.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. George Bowers of 33 Hayes street, Miss Constance Rappleyea of Port Ewen, Miss Sylvia Smith of 53 Downs street and Miss Joan Miller of 189 Washington avenue, Saugerties. Their gowns were identical in style to the honor attendant's. Miss Miller wore a gown of lavender, Miss Rappleyea cornflower blue, Miss Smith maize and Mrs. Bowers Nile green.

Best man was Ronald Kiersted, brother of the groom. Ushers were John La Lima of Lay street, Ronald Chambers of Albany avenue extension, Lawrence Williams of Lawrenceville street and Anthony Muccio of Groff street.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and greens. John A. Marelli, soloist, sang "Because, Ich Liebe Dich" and the Lord's Prayer, accompanied at the organ by Miss Lucinda Merritt.

A reception for approximately 115 guests was held at the Air Port Inn, Saugerties, following the wedding.

Following their wedding trip to northern New York state and Canada the bride will make her home with her mother while her husband serves in the U. S. Navy.

For the honeymoon trip the bride wore a blue and white summer suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations and stephanotis.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School in 1953 and is now employed with IBM in Kingston.

The bridegroom finished Kingston High School in 1951 and is now serving aboard the Apache, a U. S. Navy vessel, at Pearl Harbor.

Watermelon Social

The ladies of the Stewardess board of Franklin Street AME Zion Church will hold a watermelon festival at the home of Mrs. Sallie Bowen, 58 Meadow street, on Saturday, beginning at 8 p. m. Public patronage is solicited.

Humphrey-Glass Wedding

MR. AND MRS. DONALD R. GLASS

Miss Humphrey Wed To D. R. Glass in St. Mary's Church

Marion Florence Elizabeth Humphrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norwood R. Humphrey, Sr., of 9 East Pierpont street, became the bride of Donald Raymond Glass, son of Mrs. Raymond Glass, Sr., and the late Raymond Glass, Sr., of 21 Linwood Place, Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's RC Church, Father John Drew, former priest of St. Mary's Church, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Norwood Humphrey, Sr., wore a white satin gown fashioned with illusion neckline, Chantilly lace bodice, long pointed sleeves, bouffant skirt with matching panels of lace and long circular train. Her fingertip French imported illusion veil was gathered to a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. Her flowers consisted of a hand bouquet of white roses, gladioli, delphinium and white orchid.

The maid of honor, Charlotte Humphrey, sister of the bride, wore an orchid floor-length gown, skirt of nylon marquisette with nylon strapless over taffeta skirts, fitted strapless bodice of nylon and lace, lace jacket with mandarin collar. Her tiaras of seed pearls, attached open-work veil, and carried ivory gladioli with orchid, baby breath and ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Dorothy Humphrey of 139 Jansen avenue, sister of the bride, and Nancy Glass, sister of the groom. Miss Humphrey and Miss Glass in pink. They wore floor-length gowns with nylon marquisette over taffeta skirts, fitted strapless bodice of nylon and lace, lace jacket with mandarin collar. Their tiaras were seed pearls attached to open veils. Miss Humphrey carried a hand bouquet of pink gladioli and aqua baby breath and ribbon. Miss Glass a hand bouquet of blue gladioli and pink baby breath and ribbon.

The flower girl, Anna May Thomas, a cousin of the bride, wore a gown of pink nylon marquisette over taffeta wide boat neckline and a row of white daisies on the gown. She carried a miniature hand bouquet of featherhead blue carnation, pink baby breath and ribbon.

The best man was John Brady of 136 Jansen avenue. Ushers were Francis Clark of 83 Henry street and James Hotelling of Lake Katrine. The ring-bearer was James Caruso, a nephew of the groom.

Martin Kelly sang Ave Maria accompanied by Theodore Riccobono at the organ.

Following the wedding a reception for about 150 guests was held at the Yacht Club, 334 Ahele street.

For her wedding trip to the Thousand Islands the bride wore a light brown summer suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. They will make their home with the groom's mother, 21 Linwood place.

The bride attended School 3 and Kingston High School and was formerly employed by the Knaust Bros.

The groom attended St. Mary's School and Kingston High School and served for 18 months in the U. S. Army. He was formerly employed by Electrol, Inc.

When a Friend Serves You

A girl writes: "A boy I've known all my life has taken a place for the summer behind a soda fountain. This is a very popular spot in town and naturally I go there with my friends after the movies. Sometimes these friends know my friend behind the counter, but when they don't is when I feel a little embarrassed. I never know what to do about introducing him. It's not that I'm ashamed of the fact that he's serving sodas, but introductions at a public soda counter seem out of place, don't they?"

Not under the circumstances you describe. It would be inexcusable not to.

Clothes of Groom's Father

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married at an afternoon wedding. All the men in the wedding party, including the bride's father, are going to wear striped trousers and cutaway coats. My husband had planned on wearing a dark blue business suit but my son told him that he has to dress the same as the bride's father. My husband is very upset over this and we would like to know if my son is right?

Answer: No your son is not right. His father takes no part in the ceremony so his dark blue suit and a dark plain tie certainly would be suitable.

They're Very Busy

Dear Mrs. Post: In your book you say that men (excepting the bridegroom) have no place in the bride's receiving line. Will you please tell us what the ushers and best man are supposed to do during this time that the others are receiving?

Answer: Their usefulness is very essential. They are expected to escort the guests to the bride and bridegroom and make themselves generally useful.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-2, "Formal Wedding Procedure," includes details on double weddings. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of the Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Personal Notes

Dominick Spada of 14 Derrenbacher street recently had the pleasure of being reunited with his two brothers, Vincent and Carmen, in Canada, where they are residing. The brothers migrated to Canada from Italy within the past year. It was their first meeting in 42 years, the local brother having left his native land that long ago to settle in Glasco, from whence he came to this city 10 years ago.

Gordon Is Elected President Oteora Central District

Philip Gordon of Phoenicia was elected president of the board of education of the Oteora Central School at its annual reorganization meeting.

A well-known resident of the Catskill Mountain area, Gordon operates a pharmacy in Phoenicia. He has been a member of the board since the Central District was formed in 1948.

Justus North of Shokan was re-elected clerk of the district along with Mrs. Janie Silkworth, Olive Bridge, as treasurer. Both Mrs. Silkworth and North have acted in this capacity since 1948. Vincent G. Connelly of Connelly and Connelly, Kingston, was re-named as school attorney. Mrs. Hazel D. Osborne of Olive Bridge was renamed as census enumerator and attendance supervisor. Dr. Charles Quinn of Phoenicia was appointed as chief school physician and Dr. Paul Le Paige of Ashokan and Dr. Marie Bieber of Phoenicia were named as associate physicians. Mrs. Marie Klein of Shady was named as a new member of the board. She succeeded Lester M. Shultis of Wittenberg who had served during the past three years as president of the board of education.

The appointment of a school tax collector was tabled as there were no candidates for this position. The Kingston Trust Company, Phoenicia Branch, was renamed as the official depository for all school funds. President Gordon named Fred D. Cure, Pine Hill, Leonard Ford, Shandaken, and Harry Ostrander, Willow, as the insurance committee. Justus North, Mrs. Edna Bishop, West Shokan, and Fred D. Cure were appointed as the auditing committee. Mrs. Klein, John Haggerty, Ashokan, and Lauren Peters, Lake Hill, were named on the inspection committee. These committees will all serve for the period of one year. Harrison Gridley of Shady was requested to write the treasurer's bond.

The board of education passed a resolution praising Shultis for the years he spent as a member of the board of education. The resolution read as follows:

Whereas, Lester M. Shultis served faithfully and well as a charter member of the board of education of the Oteora Central School District for a period of six difficult years from May 1948 to July 1954,

Be it resolved, that the board of education through this resolution express the gratitude of the people and the children of this district to Mr. Shultis for the public service he rendered to the school district as a member and as president of the board of education.

Be it further resolved, one copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mr. Shultis, one copy be spread upon the minutes of this meeting of the board of education and that such resolution be forwarded to the newspapers in the district.

There is no way for South to make four spades in today's hand against perfect defense. It is clear that declarer should lose a club and three diamonds.

When the hand was actually played, however, Mrs. Edna Wolfe succeeded in making her game contract in one of the expert games at New York's famous Cavendish Club.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen of clubs. Mrs. Wolfe ruffed the second club, entered dummy by leading a trump to the nine, and returned the jack of clubs from dummy. The plan was to discard on this trick, allowing West to win the ace of clubs, and thus establishing dummy's ten of clubs for later use.

If declarer plays the hand in straightforward style, she will discard a diamond on this club trick, thus giving up a losing diamond to the enemy's high club. The trouble with any such plan is that it warns the enemy to lead diamonds at once. They then take two diamonds and two clubs, and the contract is still defeated.

Realizing that the diamond discard would be a dead giveaway, Mrs. Wolfe discarded the three of hearts on dummy's jack of clubs. West won with the ace of clubs and swallowed the bait. When West returned a heart, Mrs. Wolfe was able to win with the ace of hearts, draw trumps, and get to dummy by overruling the queen of hearts in order to discard on the jack of hearts and also on the ten of clubs.

Misdirection works in bridge hands as well as in magic.

Joseph D. Hill
Nuptials Are Held

Miss Jane Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellis Briggs of 306 Pearl street, became the bride of Joseph D. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Hill of Rosendale, Wednesday morning at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale. Father Vincent dePaul Mulry, pastor of St. Peter's, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of champagne beige silk organza, cocktail length with matching beige velvet pillbox hat and beige accessories. She carried a white pearl prayer book with white orchid cascade and shower of Stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Gaffney of 78 Plymouth avenue, Kingston, wore a gown of slate blue taffeta cocktail length with navy velvet headpiece and navy accessories, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of assorted summer flowers.

The best man was Edward Hill of Rosendale, a brother of the bridegroom.

Following the wedding a reception for 30 guests was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The couple left on a motor trip to Pennsylvania and New Jersey. They will make their home in Kingston.

The bride was a graduate of Kingston High School, and Keuka College (1951) and was employed by the Genesee Hospital, Rochester.

The bridegroom also graduated from Kingston High School and Fordham University (1951). He completed studies at the Albany Law School this year and will practice in Kingston.

The Mature Parent
Making Friends With Time Is Good Idea for Young Mothers

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

When Alice was wandering through Wonderland, she met an irascible guest at a certain Tea-Party. When he learned that she thought of time as something to beat when she studied music, he lost his temper.

"Time won't stand beating," cried the Mad, wise Hatter. "Now if you'd only kept on good terms with him, he'd do about anything you liked with the clock."

This column is for the Mother of a 3-year-old boy who likes to suck his thumb.

I suggest she make friends with Time. If she can, he will stop scaring her with the clocks of "child development" that make it so hard for us to let a child develop.

Let's trust Time, instead of thinking of him as the enemy who intends to keep us fretting over this problem tomorrow, next week, next year. Let's stop wondering when he's going to take that thumb out of our little son's mouth — and settle down into peace with Time.

That's what the little son needs. It is very hard for Mothers to make friends with Time. When babies are coming, nobody says, "My dear, now prepare to make friends with Time." So before they know what's happened, new Mothers get into a fight with him.

As a result, Time becomes belligerent. He scares them into getting up six times a night when they don't have to. He threatens them with undue work and resentment.

He condemns them to live in Tomorrow — a dreadful, unreal place to live.

As a result of this antagonism between young Mothers and Time, babies may continue to suck their thumbs longer than they otherwise need to.

If we're a baby of someone who's always trying to beat Time, we get depressed by the irritable fears back of this person's rushing about.

At night, when we shriek for help with the dark crashed down on us by the light switch, warm comfort isn't in this person who's got her mind on fights with Time and her unwashed supper dishes. So after she leaves us, discouraged, we find our thumb in our mouth.

If she and Time go on squabbling, we get the idea that all encouragement exists in this thumb.

Overcoming the clocks is the first duty of motherhood. To make them our servants, not our masters, we have to be wise and begin to trust Time.

Then, as the Mad Hatter said, he begins to do us favors. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

As a layman, it will forever make no sense to me why Truman, as now our President, refuses to let Chiang-Kai-Shek's army, and Formosa do some of the fighting against the Communists in Asia.

What's wrong in letting Asiatics fight Asiatics? Why do we have to draft American boys and send them half around the world into those stinking jungles when several hundred thousand Chinese soldiers on Formosa are sitting cozy?

Senator Knowland, of California, who people know the answer to that. And if the people aren't propagandized into silence by the war-drum thumpers, a lot of folks will join the Brass in demanding to know whether the Brass in Washington care more about not offending Britain and France, who don't like Chiang-Kai-Shek, than they do about the lives of American boys.

It is said that if Indo-China falls into the hands of the Reds, they will starve Japan of her rice supply, and force her to join them in order to eat.

My answer to that is: If somebody has to fight somebody in order for the Japs to have rice to eat, let the Japs fight for their own food.

I cannot understand, as a layman, why we have to do all the dirty work all around the globe.

Neighbor, how do you feel about it?

Hercules Upsets Rapps, 12-11 In American Softball League; Subway Grill Leads by Game

Bence's Tavern 5	Cedar Rest 3
Bence's Bar & Grill 2	The Alpine 2

Hercules forced Rapp's Express into a virtual tie with Skyline by outlasting the Expressmen, 12 to 11, in a wild City Softball League contest this week.

The Powdermen prevailed in a game in which 16 runs were scored in the last two innings.

In other jousts, the American Legion nosed out Cherny's, 7 to 6, while Skyline thumped Bence's Tavern, 13 to 5, to stay even in the loss column with Rapp's, with four setbacks apiece. Rapp's hold a 13-4 edge in victories.

Subway Grill (14-2) remains atop the National Division by a margin of one length over Chester Emile.

Rousing Finish

Hercules led Rapp's 5-2 when the Expressmen exploded for six runs in the top of the sixth to go ahead 8-5. Hercules bounced back with five in their half to make it 10-8. Rapp's chalked up three in the top of the seventh only to have Hercules score the tying and winning runs in their last turn at bat.

The Powdermen raked John Kozlowski for 17 hits, including three each by Bill Thorneburg, Leo Bechtold and Tom Rizzi, who allowed 10 Rapp safeties. Rizzi had a double besides his two singles. Tex Brown led the Rapp's with two singles and a triple.

Rider Hits Homer

A dramatic sequence enabled the American Legion to pull one out of the fire against Cherny's.

Trailing 7-4 when they came to bat for their last licks, the Legion sent Jay Ritter to the plate as a pinch hitter and he responded with a home run. Then followed successive singles by John Gilligan, Joe Fautz and Bill Ferguson for the winning runs.

Ferguson gave up nine hits, including a double and triple by Phil McCloskey, who was Cherny's leading batsman. Jack Gilligan pounded three singles for the Legion.

Smith Hits Four

Don Smith slugged four singles to pace Skyline's 17-hit barrage against Joe Venuti of Bence's Tavern. A 10-run rally in the second broke the game wide open. Veteran Ed Lowe stopped Bence's with five hits and had a one-hit shutout for 4 2/3 innings.

Jim Woods slammed three singles and Hank Diamond had a single and double for Skyline. Joe Venuti had two hits for the losers.

Matthews Meets Cockell Tonight

Seattle, July 30 (AP)—Harry (Kid) Matthews is taller and has a greater reach than Don Cockell of London, but he'll be topped in all other statistics by the British Empire champion in their 10-round heavyweight fight tonight.

Cockell is expected to weigh in at anything from 207 to 211 today—the cockney has been keeping his poundage a secret during training. He was swathed in heavy clothes at his workouts.

Charles-Marciano Return Scheduled in September

New York, July 30 (AP)—Ezzard Charles may never go down as the greatest heavyweight champion, but he will have his own little niche in the history of the ring.

The lithe Cincinnati Negro will be the first ex-champion ever to get three cracks at winning back his title. He lost the crown to Jersey Joe Walcott, dropped a return decision to Jersey Joe, then lost another decision to Rocky Marciano.

Now he's going to get a second crack at Marciano, here on either Sept. 15 or Sept. 21. Today, even before the battles have signed the final contracts, an early line has been quoted. The Rock from Brockton, Mass., is a 1-3 favorite and is even money to stop the 33-year-old Charles.

"I hope to do a little better than last time," said Marciano. "I was a little disappointed that I didn't drop him at least once." It was a bloody battle on both sides and before the agreement for the return could be made yesterday, Marciano had to have his eye examined. Charles worked on it to the extent that 10 stitches were required, but physicians said it was healed completely.

So Jim Norris, head man of the International Boxing Club, now merely has to iron out the details. Besides deciding where and when to hold the battle, he is mulling over the television problem. The chances are he will have a closed theatre TV circuit which proved so profitable in the first fight.

The financial arrangements will be the same as their bout six weeks ago with Marciano getting 40 per cent of all money brought in and Charles 20 per cent.

Marciano plans to start training today at Grossinger, while Charles probably will start workouts after he signs the papers next Tuesday.

No Schedule For Hole-in-1
No schedule will be published for the Freeman hole-in-one tournament scheduled Sunday at Woodstock Country Club. Starting times will be allotted as near as possible to those requested by entrants. Because of the heavy demand for the 11 a. m. squad, efforts will be made to accommodate folks as they arrive at the tee. Post entries will be accepted.

National Stars to Play Glasco in LL Tourney
The Glasco All Stars will meet the Kingston National League All Stars today at 6 p. m. Probable pitchers will be Raymond Sarkies, a right hander with a brilliant record in the Glasco loop and Don Kruszenski for Kingston.

The Esopus-Highland contest will be resumed from the point of interruption. Esopus has runners on second and third with only one out in the top of the second.

Dom DiCapua, one of the pitching stars of last year's tournament, struck out the side in the first inning and the first batter in the second inning before he ran into trouble.

Bernie Brown of Esopus fanned two men in the first inning of the scoreless game.

Sets Vernon Mark
Vernon, July 30 (AP)—Over a rain-soggy track, driver Joe O'Brien brought in four winners last night in the Grand Circuit harness racing program at Vernon Downs. He handled Scotch Victor, winner of both dashes in the $5,000 free-for-all Riverview stock farm of Marcy trot, after reigning Pigeon Hill to victory in the first race, a mile trot, and Diana Star in the third, a mile pace.

Tennis
Southampton, N. Y.—Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., moved into the quarter-finals of the Meadow Club tournament with a 6-2, 3-6, 6-2 victory over Atsushi Miyagi of Japan.

Kalamazoo, Mich.—David Harum of Coral Gables, Fla., upset national interscholastic titleholder Gregory Grant of San Marino, Calif., 4-6, 6-1, 6-2 in the National Boys championships.

Fights Last Night
(By The Associated Press)
Syracuse, N. Y.—Pat Manzi, 150, Syracuse, stopped Chuck Foster, 147, Omaha, 6.

Brooklyn (Fort Hamilton)—Johnny Busso, 139½, New York, stopped Frederico Escalera, 139, New York, 5.

West Jordan, Utah—Rex Layne, 208, Salt Lake City, knocked out Garrie Alle, 213, Los Angeles, 2.

Matthews, who is 5 feet 11, will weigh about 180. His reach is 74½ inches, compared to 71 inches for the 5-foot-9½ Cockell. In chest, neck, biceps and other measurements Cockell has the edge.

If the promise of good weather holds, the fight will go on about 10 p. m. (PST) at Sick's Stadium, home of Seattle's Pacific Coast League baseball team. In case of threatening weather the main event will be tucked in after the first preliminary, scheduled for 8:30 p. m.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

Twenty-five years ago William H. Cane, Mr. Trotting, took his big chance that the rich Hambletonian, a dismal flop elsewhere in its first four years, could be made a national annual feature in tranquil little Goshen, where trotting has been enjoyed ever since before the Revolutionary War.

The past quarter century has proved that the world's richest trotting stake can transform a peaceful village into the U. S. sports capital for one day in early August, and that Goshen has become the undisputed home of the most valuable four-day race card in America.

Hambletonian Day is Aug. 4, with a record entry of 87 three-year-olds, of which 20 may face Steve Phillips' mechanized starting gate at 3 p. m. (EDT) next Wednesday. Total purses will run close to $150,000.

The Orange county seat of government, Goshen, is ready for the annual invasion of the tourists, improvers of the breed and the curious. Churches are ready to serve chicken and corn on paper plates under great old trees shading monuments to horses as well as to past national heroes. Houses are being dusted, spare rooms flung open, to supplement the three hotels. This is the big day.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Catskill Mountain Golf Leaguers meet Monday at Wiltwyck to elect officers and make plans for the first annual banquet. Secretary Bert Rhea of the HVL reports several requests for new franchises in the 1954-55 circuit but, due to the time element, no more than 18 teams can be accommodated. Officers for the forthcoming season are Frank Finn, Liberty, president; Wally Gerken, Newburgh, vice-president; Bert Rhea, Poughkeepsie, secretary-treasurer. Big Sal Misasi's first pitching stint after returning from Hornell of the Pony League was a 3-1 victory for the Saugerties Whiz Kids over Nadler Motors of the City League. Among other things, the new, relaxed Bob Feller has added a knuckler to his repertoire. And this is the first season since 1951, they've used sponges to warm him up. Ray Billows, three-time U. S. Amateur finalist, failed to qualify this year, but he cracked the Povelton (Newburgh) course record with a 65 last Sunday.

Of Men and Mice:

The feudin' and fussin' in the Yankee family, fanned to a fever pitch by the trading of Vic Raschi to the Cardinals, erupted into the opening when Arthur "Red" Patterson resigned this week because of differences with General Manager George Weiss. The Yankees will miss the redhead, who did a tremendous job of promoting "days" and special events such as the "Old Timers Day," the Mel Allen and Joe DiMaggio days. Patterson was interested enough to make a fast solo trip to this city to speak at a Kingston Athletic Association monthly meeting, without fee. According to George Palmateer, the Poughkeepsie scribe, Billy Ostrom hasn't changed. The unpredictable southpaw has been dropped by the Arlington team of the Interstate Baseball League. He refused to travel for road games, and other players resented favoritism being shown to him.

QUICK TAKES: Murray Olderman says that one way to get rid of any lovey-dovey raps during tennis would be to get rid of the love, starting at the Nationals in Forest Hills . . . by following old pro Mercer Beasley's suggestion to sub "zero" for "love" in the scoring.

Jim McCabe's Filly Scores First Victory at Saratoga

Locksie's Princess, a 3-year-old pacing filly owned by James H. McCabe, proprietor of Cy's Diner in Kingston, scored her first victory last night at Saratoga Raceway.

Fred La Rouesch reined the filly to her first victory in seven starts this year. She did not race as a two-year-old.

The daughter of Prince Richard held the lead from wire to wire, winning in 2:10 4/5 over a slow track and returned $6.60 as a second choice in the betting.

Midget Motors In Third Show At Rhinebeck

Rhinebeck Speedway will be host to the midget motors Saturday night for the third time this season.

The leading Eastern midget racing club, the Midget Auto Racing Club, will have more than 30 racing cars on hand.

Among the galaxy of midget stars will be the 1953 Eastern champion, Bob Hart of Nassau, N. Y., Bill Johnston of Rye, Elmar Gunnarson, Roger Bailey and Wild Bill Hiecock. The midgets will put on a full racing program topped by a 25-lap feature.

Along with the midgets, the Mutual Stock Car Racing Club will stage a full program of auto racing. Link Pettit of Troy will return along with such stars as Ken Gootermote, Bob Devine, Mike Ward, Chuck Irving and many other topflight drivers. The stock program will be capped by a 30-lap feature.

Game Rained Out

Yesterday's City League game between Jones Dairy and Nadler Motors was washed out in the first inning. Nadlers had failed to score in their half and Joneses had two outs when the deluge came.

Yankees 67-33 Mark Best in Five Seasons Under Casey Stengel

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Today is Casey Stengel's 64th birthday but he's going to have to wait a while longer for a present from his athletes.

The New York Yankees didn't quite make it to first place in time for the celebration. In fact, they haven't made it to first place any time this season although they've won more of their first 100 games than any Yankee club Casey has managed.

When they whipped Chicago 10-0 yesterday, they ran their record for the year to 67 won and 33 lost. None of Casey's past five pennant winners did as well for the same period.

New York trails Cleveland by a game and a half and the day-to-day question is how long can the two clubs keep up their sizzling pace.

During the last seven weeks the Yanks have won 37 out of 49, a .755 clip. The Indians captured 35 of 49 over the same period for a .714 mark, exactly equalling the best winning percentage ever compiled by an American League champion.

While the Yankees were routing the wishful White Sox, Cleveland collapsed before a Boston onslaught and bowed 10-2. The Red Sox had lost 15 out of 16 to Cleveland before turning on the league leaders.

Day of Shutouts

Of the nine games played four ended in shutouts. Whitey Ford held the White Sox to four hits in the Yankee victory. Vic Raschi, the ex-Yankee star now working for the St. Louis Cardinals, beat the New York Giants 8-0 on three hits. Corky Valentine of Cincinnati pitched a four-hitter against Philadelphia, winning 3-0 and Chuck Stobbs of Washington checked Baltimore on five hits in a 6-0 triumph.

In other action Chicago defeated Brooklyn 6-5; Milwaukee won its seventh straight, 5-3 over Pittsburgh in 10 innings and Detroit took a doubleheader from Philadelphia 4-2 and 7-3.

Raschi was in complete control of the league-leading Giants. He gave up two bases on balls and struck out a pair. The only New York hits were singles by Willie Mays, Bobby Hoffman and Don Mueller. Ray Jablonski's bases-loaded double in the fifth was the big blow for St. Louis.

Pinch Hitters Flop

Pinch hitters flopped for Brooklyn as the Dodgers lost a chance to shave their two-game deficit. Manager Walt Alston used five and not one got the ball out of the infield. The final was George Shuba who grounded to first base with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth. Hank Sauer and Ernie Banks homered for the Cubs.

The Braves had close call in Pittsburgh. They tied the game in the ninth on three straight singles and added two more, including Hank Aaron's 12th home run, in the 10th.

Valentine not only pitched a shutout for the Redlegs, he was the batting star as well. He doubled twice, singled once and scored twice of the four runs against the Phillies.

Boston wrapped it up early against Cleveland, routing Bobby Feller in the second inning after piling up a 5-0 lead. It was Feller's second loss and broke a seven-game winning streak for the veteran fireballer. Jackie Jensen drove in six runs with two homers and a single.

THINK TWICE

when you buy auto insurance!

1. about cost...

Compare Allstate's low rates and benefits. You'll see why the number of Allstate policyholders has more than doubled in less than three years. Today, over two million car owners are getting the really better value you'd expect from the company founded by Sears.

2. about service...

Allstate is famous for its fast, fair claim settlements by experienced representatives throughout the U.S. Before you spend another dollar for auto insurance, think twice—and see your Allstate Agent. Ask, too, about Allstate's low cost Comprehensive Personal Liability Insurance.

Spends 24 Hours in Davy Jones' Locker

Wearing a skin-tight rubber suit, Ed Fisher, of New York, kept the fish company on the floor of the Atlantic Ocean near Key Largo, Fla., for 24 hours, a record for underwater endurance. The rubber suit helped the 26-year-old diver retain his body warmth on his record-breaking feat. Only food Fisher had was soup, and raw fish he caught while performing his stunt.

Fisher reaches for anchor, left, lowered in case the current gets rough, and at right, uses a spear-gun to hunt game on ocean floor.

Two Hearings Are Scheduled on Issues

A public hearing on an ordinance that would tighten taxi regulations in the city and one on a zoning change are scheduled for Aug. 5, it was announced today.

The taxi men several weeks ago asked for stricter regulations to prevent an influx of operators from out of the city.

Their proposal was presented to the Common Council, and it was noted at the time, that the location of the IBM plant here might be an inducement for taxi-men from other communities to locate here.

The other application by Louis Braunstein seeks a business zone designation for 460

Albany avenue. The applicant operates a dry cleaning business. Hearing on the Braunstein application is scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m., and the other at 7:45 p. m.

Alderman Abram D. Relyea, chairman of the council's laws and rules committee, will conduct the hearings.

One in a Billion

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — The chances of a five-yolk egg are one in a billion. Alfred McNamee, Jr., said his firm handled about a billion eggs in 38 years and found only one with five yolks. Double yolks are common, he said, but triple yolks showed up only once in each 100,000 eggs. And in a billion eggs there were just three four-yolkers—and the one five-yolk.

Two Changes Are Made on Tickets System in State

Albany, July 30 (AP) — Two changes were made today in the rules covering the state's fix-proof traffic ticket system, scheduled to go into operation Oct. 1.

James R. Macduff, commissioner of motor vehicles, said the changes were requested by the city of Buffalo but could be adopted by other municipalities at their option.

One amendment permits any locality to add a perforated stub to the uniform ticket to provide space for information on weather, road and traffic conditions and other descriptive data.

The other permits a locality to insert two lines in the uniform ticket, directing offenders to appear at the local traffic violations bureau rather than in court.

The uniform system, applying to all except parking violations, is aimed at blocking ticket "fixing." It will be effective throughout the state, except in New York city and Nassau county. Those localities were exempted because their present systems satisfy state requirements.

Cleveland, July 30 (AP) — A murder warrant and a missing golf club got top consideration today in the Sheppard slaying case. Law Director Richard S. Weygant of suburban Bay Village took the complete file of evidence and went into seclusion. It will be up to him and Bay Village Mayor J. Spencer Houk to decide whether to issue a warrant on the basis of present information. Weygant gave no indication of when he might reach a decision. Last night he reported he did not "have enough information to satisfy me that an arrest should be made now."

Rhee Appears Resigned

Washington, July 30 (AP)—Syngman Rhee appeared resigned today to lack of U. S. support for his plan to attack Communist China now, but the fiery South Korean president still hoped to go home with assurance of American military and economic support. A White House statement was to be issued after a final meeting between Rhee and Secretary of State Dulles this afternoon. It was expected to emphasize the cordial "family-style" atmosphere that marked intensive talks during Rhee's five-day state visit, ending today. But it may not pinpoint specific agreements. Before seeing Dulles, Rhee was to speak at George Washington University, his alma mater, and before the Overseas Writers Club (12:45 p. m. EDT).

Stomach Stones

The most plausible reason for the numerous stones carried in the penguin's stomach is that, since he eats enormous amounts of fish, he needs assistance in grinding and digesting his meals.

Channel Master Has Job Openings

Channel Master Corporation, Ellenville, has been hiring to fill between 200 and 300 job openings which will be created between now and September 30, it was announced by Harry Resnick, president. These jobs will be available for both men and women although at this time only men are needed.

This increase in the company's production force has been necessitated by a seasonal increase in business which is already under way. For example, the new aluminum extrusion mill is now in full operation and is operating six days a week on a three-shift, around-the-clock basis.

Persons applying at an early date will have their choice of day or night work, the company said. Because the number of off-season employees has steadily increased each year, it was expected that many of the new job openings will be permanent.

No experience is necessary to fill the available jobs, since all employees will be trained under the company's training program. It was said. Applications are now being accepted at the Channel Master Employment Office.

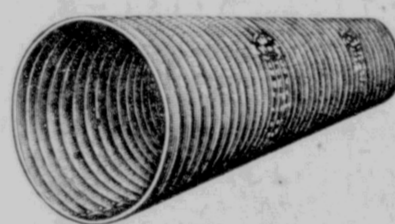

Dies Watching Parade

New York, July 30 (AP)—Charles M. Cogswell, 58, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., collapsed and died last night while watching the 40-and-8 parade on Fifth avenue. Thomas Foster, commander of Poughkeepsie's 40-and-8, said Cogswell had been a member of the organization for 10 years. A Bellevue Hospital doctor said Cogswell apparently suffered a heart attack.

Planes Transferred

Taipei, Formosa, July 30 (AP)—The Nationalist Chinese Interior Ministry's Tatoo Agency declared today that Soviet Russia transferred more than 80 MIG15 jet fighter planes to Red China last month. The agency, which claims underground contacts on the Chinese mainland, said the transfer was the third this year and took place at Mukden, Manchuria.

Wood Proposes Group to Study Tennis Problems

Southampton, July 30 (AP)—Sidney Wood, president of the Tennis Players League, announced today that the organization was recommending a five-man committee to oversee "activities" of players on the tournament circuit.

"We hope our recommendation will be acted upon by the United States Lawn Tennis Association," said the former Wimbledon ace.

Wood said the committee would be made up of two top players, two USLTA executives and one former amateur player. "The committee would provide for realistic action with regard to any activities of players which might be detrimental to the game, without requiring written evidence which no one wishes to, or will, provide," Wood added.

The TPL takes in most of the top players in the country, but it has been at odds with the USLTA since its formation on how to popularize tennis.

Wood's announcement came as a result of rumors that at least one of the country's better players had made excessive demands for expense money to play in the Baltimore tournament which was scheduled for this week. The tournament was abandoned.

"We know what's going on," one high-placed official of the USLTA told the Associated Press. "But unless we get proof our hands are tied. As soon as someone is willing to come forward with proof, we'll act."

year and, more important there is a shortage of hospital facilities in the area served by the Kingston Hospital. The New York State Joint Hospital Survey and Planning Commission figures show that only 284 beds are now available in Ulster county to care for the sick and injured and that a shortage of 198 beds exists.

Anderson pointed out that with the growth and development which lies ahead for Kingston and the increased population brought about by IBM and other industries who will locate in the Kingston area, the problem of providing adequate hospital care for our people must be solved. "I feel the Kingston Hospital Development Program is most important to this community," Anderson stated.

Anderson came to Kingston about five years ago and established the Bev. Anderson Chevrolet, Inc. in the new building which he constructed at 731 Broadway. He had previously been associated with the automobile business in Pittsburgh and Detroit.

Vacancies Open At Tri-Mount

Following a record-breaking first three weeks of capacity campers, Camp Tri-Mount, operated by the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, at East Jewett, is now accepting registrations for the last two weeks of the camping season.

The improvements and increased facilities at Camp Tri-Mount, accomplished during the past year, proved their worth as more Boy Scouts than ever registered for camp during the first three weeks. In many cases, Boy Scouts came to camp for a one week period and remained for one or two additional weeks— "a tribute to the facilities and operation of our camp," commented Frank Bourke of the council staff.

Boy Scouts who desire to attend the fifth or sixth weeks at Tri-Mount are urged to register now at the Scout office, 260 Fair street. "There are some vacancies for these last two weeks of the season," said Bourke, "and we'll be happy to register additional boys immediately."

The sun rotates on its axis in about 27 days.

YOU, TOO,

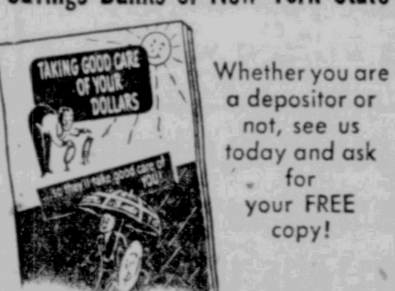

OWE IT TO YOUR FAMILY TO SAVE REGULARLY, FOR THEIR FUTURE!

There are no two ways about it: you must save—if for no other reason than you're the head of a family, or hope to be in the near future. A small amount (as low as $1) opens an account; add to it regularly and watch it grow BIG.

HERE'S THE MOST IMPORTANT READING YOU CAN DO THIS YEAR

"Taking good care of your dollars — SO THEY'LL TAKE GOOD CARE OF YOU"
